Leads Dynamic Attack That Defeats Poland 42 to 15 in Semi-finals of Olympic Basketball Series at Berlin; U.S. Turns Back Mexico 25 to 10

Canadian Press

Berlin, Aug. 13.—Canada forged into the final round of the Olympic basketball championship today by overwhelming Poland, 42 to 15.

The Canadians — Windsor Fords bolstered by four British Columbia stars—set the Polish players back on their collective heels with an early attack that rolled up a half-time score of 25 to 6 in their favor.

Doug Peden, Victoria, was the spearhead of the early attack that clinched the victory.

In the final tomorrow for the first official Olympic title in this speedy sport, the Canadians will meet the United States team, who progressed today through the semi-finals by defeating Mexico, 25 to 10.

Collapse Of Fascist Revolt In Spain Said To Be Matter Of Hours

Victorious in Guadarrama Mountains, North of Madrid, Launching Fresh Wedge-like Offensive in South, and Doggedly Disputing Rebel Drive on Northern Seaboard, Leftist Government Figures It Has Spanish Situation in Hand; Rebel Planes Bomb San Sebastian, Causing Heavy Damage

By ALEXANDER H. UHL

Madrid, Aug. 13.—Victories were announced by both sides in Spain's civil war today even as the Socialist government forecast an end to the Fascist rebellion within a few hours.

Victorious in the Guadarrama Mountains, north of Madrid, freshly launched on a wedge-like offensive in the south, and disputing doggedly the new rebel offensive on the northern seaboard, the government said the revolt must collapse "within a few hours."

The three theatres of war today were at Oviedo, in the northwest, held by rebels; a tiny cluster of towns in the northeast, centred by San Sebastian, and the far-flung southern front roughly encompassed by the triangle between the cities of Seville, Cordoba and Badajoz.

The rebel army at Tolosa, a few miles south of San Sebastian, had pushed its vanguard to within eight miles of the summer resort, in fighting which probably had had no parallel for bitterness since the start of the revolution.

The Madrid war ministry issued renewed orders for bombardment of rebels in the southwest, in Badajoz and Caceres provinces.

DESPERATE OFFENSIVE

Irun, Spain, Aug. 13.—Five rebel planes mombed the seaside resort of San Sebastian today, inflicting heavy damage in a final desperate offensive for possession of the city.

As the planes roared over the town, dropping missiles which seriously injured eight persons, the rebel cruiser Almirante Cervera lay two miles off shore with its decks cleared for action. The planes scored direct hits on five important points.

The airport, anarchist headquarters and the main boulevard in San Sebastian were among the targets.

The rebel warship apparently was prepared to shell the city as the time limit on an ultimatum delivered two days ago—to surrender or undergo a bombardment from the sea—expired

AIRMEN EXECUTED

Associated Press

Babat, French Morocco, Aug. 13.—Execution of forty officers and men attached to the Madrid government's air force after they were captured in the storming of San Rafael Espinar, was announced by the rebel radio station at Seville, Spain, today.

The forces of General Emilio Mola, rebel commander in the north of Spain, lined up the two score men and shot them down, said the broadcast.

The same announcement reported the arrival of a "German captain" at Burgos, headquarters of the rebel provisional government. He was not otherwise identified.

AIRLINERS ARE BOUND FOR SPAIN

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Aug. 13.—Four multi-engined airliners, says The Evening Standard, left London today bound for Lisbon and Spain. The machines are: Two Fokkers from Croydon, bound for Lisbon. It is understood they are making for rebel headquarters at Burgos.

Two DH-84 type Dragon machines from Heston airport, bound for Paris. They are believed to be flying to Barcelona for the Spanish government forces.

H. FORRESTER IS CANDIDATE

Liberal Standard-bearer For Burrard By-election Chosen

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Aug. 13.—Howard Forrester, long prominent in Liberal affairs in Vancouver-Burrard, was chosen as party candidate to contest that riding in the forthcoming provincial by-election.

Dr. Lyle Telford was chosen Tuesday night by the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation and Dr. Frank Patterson is most prominently named as the Conservative choice.

The only other name brought before the convention was that of Harry W. Colgan, Vancouver barrister. He withdrew, however, giving the candidature to Forrester unanimously.

Vancouver, Aug. 13.—Dr. Lyle Telford, president of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation in British Columbia, today was on record as approving the recently-constructed provincial platform including the plank calling for "socialized finance."

In accepting the party nomination in the Vancouver-Burrard by-election Tuesday night, Dr. Telford said the C.C.F. in that riding must be prepared to go "down the line" with him on the new platform, including the socialized finance clause.

"Finance capital is the most vicious enemy of the people," Dr. Telford said. "You can't socialize factories or anything else while leaving the finances in the hands of bankers. Challenge finance capital, or we might as well quit tonight."

Potatoes Take Another Jump

Retail Price Doubled During the Last Week

Potato prices jumped $10 a ton today, bringing a total advance of $27.50 during the last week and doubling the retail price.

The unprecedented movement in the potato market was due to drought conditions throughout the prairies causing heavy export demand, advices from wholesale row stated.

The retail price for potatoes is expected to be about $3 a sack. This compares with $2.50 yesterday and $1.50 at the beginning of this week.

The market is said to be strong and further rises are expected.

WOMAN AS EXECUTIONER

Mrs. F. Thompson, Kentucky Sheriff, May Send Negro Murderer to His Doom

Associated Press

Owensboro, Ky., Aug. 13.—Authorities estimated today approximately 10,000 persons would witness at dawn here tomorrow the public hanging of Rainey Bethea, twenty-two, negro slayer, by a woman sheriff.

As hotels began filling with visitors, city officials considered closing all liquor stores at 1 a.m. tomorrow. Authorities issued warnings against drunkenness and public disturbances the morning of the execution.

The hanging—first to be held in Davies County since two men were executed thirty-one years ago, will be conducted in the fenced-in yard of the county garage.

While officers awaited arrival of G. Phil Hanna, Epworth, Ill., veteran consulting executioner, and the top section of a twenty-foot gallows, Mrs. Florence Thompson, Davies County sheriff, declined to divulge the extent she will participate in the execution.

"No one knows the decision I have reached," she said. "I have been called by long-distance telephone from every section of the country by persons wanting to know if I would spring the trap. I have declined to say what part I will take in the execution. I have not confided in anyone."

Bethea allegedly confessed to the fatal criminal assault June 7 of Mrs. Eliza Edwards, seventy. He was convicted but the Kentucky Court of Appeals refused his appeal.

DISCUSS CHANGES IN SCHOOL SYSTEM

Junior High School Move Suggested in Deliberations of Local School Board; May Have Government Make Survey

Possibility of radical changes in Victoria's school system, covering reorganization to include junior high schools, was broached by the city school board at its meeting yesterday evening.

After considerable debate, the board finally asked the chairman, Trustee W. C. Moresby, to strike a committee to interview officials of the Department of Education to determine for what price the department would conduct a survey.

The issue was raised following presentation of reports by Trustees P. E. George and Kenneth Ferguson on a recent meeting with Hon. George M. Weir, Minister of Education, and officials of the department, on the question of the High School curriculum.

FAVOR NEW SYSTEM

After stating the officials had indicated matriculation might be abolished in provincial schools, Trustee George stated he had been informed the present department was averse to the existing Prussian system of eight years elementary study and four years more advanced high school work. The department, he reported, looked with more favor on the British system of six years elementary work, three year's intermediary tuition, corresponding to junior high school, and three years senior work.

The government leaders had given him to understand that some move should be instituted to bring junior high schools to Victoria.

Belief the city should secure a government survey of city schools with respect to buildings and salaries as they compared with those of other schools in the province, was expressed by Trustee Ferguson in his report. The cost of such a survey, which he felt should be paid by the board, should not be very great, the trustee thought.

Says B.C. Exam System Inane

Educationists From Scotland Scores Methods Used Here

An educational system such as that in British Columbia, requiring students in examinations to supply missing words in excerpts from closely-studied books, or to tell "who said this" or "when did so-and-so happen," was criticized today by Dr. Albert J. Weir of Edinburgh, head of the department of English in Scotland's second largest secondary school.

"That sort of system is inane," said Dr. Weir, who is in Victoria on a brief visit.

Department heads in British schools were not hampered by set curriculums in the senior grades.

"I am the virtual Mussolini of the twenty teachers in my department," Dr. Weir stated. Guided by the examinations of preevious years, he could recommend any books he wished to be read by the students. He could follow the broader principles of literature, and not a system of almost memorizing defined books.

Leading students in England and Scotland demanded something more than graduation honors, and received good positions in the civil service, he said. He was surprised that the civil service could not be entered through the schools here.

"The schools have been concerned too long with feeding the professional classes," Dr. Weir said.

BLUM'S HANDS-OFF PLAN IN SPAIN RUNS INTO SNAGS

By GEORGE HAMBLETON

London, Aug. 13 (Canadian Press Cable).—The French plan for hands off in Spain is running into snags.

Premier Leon Blum is faced with troubles in his own following. The Socialists and Communists who constitute the left wing French popular front never liked the hands-off policy. They loudly charge that while the diplomats talk, Germany and Italy are secretly arming the Fascists in Spain. And the French Socialists and Communists now have decided to call a conference to consider international action whereby Labor can support the Spanish Government.

Delays over conclusion of the pact are creating concern in London. British official circles admit delays longer than anticipated. Premier Mussolini is reported again to be pressing that the agreement include a ban on volunteers and financial assistance from outside sympathizers. The French draft, endorsed by Britain, is limited to a ban on export of arms, munitions and all types of aricraft.

Britain, supporting the French representations in Berlin, Rome and Lisbon, hold the important thing is a quick agreement not to supply weapons of war. Other questions can well be left over to subsequent agreement.

FRANCO GETTING HELP

In a message to The Daily Telegraph from Gibraltar, Sir Percival Phillips, noted newspaper correspondent, says he learns from an observer General Francisco Franco's southern rebel army based at Seville will shortly be supported by a new organization comprising modern German and Italian planes and personnel. This observer learned from a source he considers absolutely trust-

TWO HELD FOR FUR ROBBERY

Pair Arrested For Minor Offence Face Greater Charge

Bert Sheffield and Henry Courboisier were charged by provincial police at Port Nelson today with robbery with violence in connection with the holdup and theft of $32,000 in furs from the Hudson's Bay Company post there, a month ago.

Charges were laid on instructions from headquarters here after the two men had been held on charges under the Game Act. For one offence they were fined, and while being investigated on another charge they were linked with the fur theft charge.

The charging of the pair came after one of the most widespread searches of British Columbia's northland in recent years.

Sheffield and Courboisier were arrested by Constable Duke, one of the officers taking part in the search, when he came across them near his camp at Dorothy Lake last Saturday.

They were apprehended for carrying firearms in contravention to the Game Act.

They were flown to Fort Nelson Monday and fined for the offence. They were held in custody on another charge, and it was these investigations which caused police to link them with the daring robbery of four weeks ago, when masked men held up and bound Hudson's Bay Company employees and then made off with the fortune in furs.

Lowering Of Trade Barriers Forecast

Germany Presents Note to Washington Agreeing to Discontinue Subsidizing Exports to U.S.

Associated Press

Washington, Aug. 13.—An early lowering of trade barriers between the United States and Germany was forecast in reliable quarters today following presentation by Ambassador Hans Luther of an important note on the subject to William Phillips, acting Secretary of State.

It was learned authoritatively the note conveyed the German government's agreement to discontinue wide subsidizing exports to the United States. This practice impelled the United States more than a month ago to levy extra duties against German imports.

The German government's action was expected in well-informed quarters here to result in a withdrawal of the treasury decree imposing the excess taxes in the form of "countervailing duties."

The German move, it was stated, would apply to all contracts for exports to the United States concluded since August 3.

Although the German government's decision generally is expected by informed quarters here to remove such artificial obstacles to German-American trade, it was predicted nevertheless that an increase in commerce between the two countries might not result, but in large part to the scarcity of foreign exchange in Germany.

Henceforth, German purchases in the United States must be paid for in marks convertible into foreign exchange, whereas formerly through a system of export bounties paid to exporters, German industry was able to buy in the United States with so-called "aski" marks, which were not actually taken out of the country.

The reported German action toward discontinuing export subsidies was said to include prohibition of the use of such marks in the future.

AGREEMENT IN ASTOR CASE

Canadian Press

Los Angeles, Aug. 13.—Superior Judge Goodwin J. Knight approved a settlement agreement today in the sensational child custody fight between Mary Astor, film star, and her former husband, Dr. Franklyn Thorpe.

The judge approved the agreement dividing custody of the couple's young daughter, Marylyn, after an hour's conference with Miss Astor, Dr. Thorpe and their lawyers, who reached the agreement last night.

Judge Knight said he would enter judgment at 3 p.m. today embodying the agreement.

"Little or no change" in the agreement was made in the conference, Joseph Anderson, counsel, said.

Anderson expressed belief the division and terms of custody are so arranged it will work out harmoniously. He would not say whether any third party or arbiter would be named officially or unofficially, to administer terms of the agreement.

HALT CALLED ON TAXATION IN U.S.

No New Taxes to Be Recommended at Next Session of Congress; Study May Even Lead to Reductions

Associated Press

Washington, Aug. 13. — A United States government tax conference today produced an announcement that no new taxes would be recommended to Congress at the next session and that a thoroughgoing study, to be begun immediately, may, in fact, lead to reductions.

Chairman Harrison of the Senate finance committee told reporters if the administrative costs and difficulties of some specific taxes were found to be so great that they could be repealed with little loss of revenue, such action would be recommended. What taxes he had in mind, he did not say.

Morgenthau, however, told newsmen he referred to "miscellaneous taxes," commonly called "nuisance taxes."

"Business improvement is at such a pace that we are going to reach a balanced budget much earlier than we expected," Harrison said.

LUMBER GROUP NOW ON COAST

More of B.C. Product Can Be Used in Britain, Says E. B. Monkhouse

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Aug. 13.—Edward B. Monkhouse, president of the Timber Trade Federation of the United Kingdom, today said definite progress was being made in the lumber market of Great Britain by British Columbia products.

"There is no reason why the lumber exports of this province to our people should not be greatly increased," said Mr. Monkhouse, who is one of a party of lumbermen from the United Kingdom touring this province.

Another section of the party later will visit Victoria and other island points.

Keen Campaign Is Waged In Quebec

Busy Week-end Facing Party Leaders in Eastern Province; Cardin Says French-Canadian Race Cannot Exist Alone

Canadian Press

Quebec, Aug. 13.—The French-Canadian race cannot exist by itself, in the belief of Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, Dominion Minister of Public Works. Numbers will gain no ground for French-Canadians, they must advance to prominence and prestige on their merits, he told a Liberal political meeting at Rimouski last night.

"We are in the minority and always will be in the minority, he said. "Let us then cease to speak ill of our chiefs," he said in an appeal for a clean political fight.

A busy week-end faces leading figures in Quebec's election campaign, for on Monday the voters go to the polls to choose a new Legislative Assembly.

Premier Adelard Godbout and Maurice Duplessis, Union Nationale chieftain, each had several meetings on their schedule for today.

Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Dominion Minister of Justice, and Hon. C. G. Power, Minister of Pensions and National Health, disembark at Quebec today from Europe and plunge immediately into the provincial campaign.

Two more from outside the provincial political field entered the lists at Montreal last night. J. S. Woodsworth, national chairman of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, spoke in favor of Jack Cupello, C.C.F. candidate. James Litterick, Communist member of Manitoba's Legislature for Winnipeg, took up the cudgels for Fred Rose, Communist candidate in Montreal-St. Louis.

GREECE RULE IS FASCIST

Gen. J. Metaxas' Achieves Ambition of Long Standing As Dictator

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

New York Aug. 13. — General John Metaxas, in assuming a dictatorship of Greece, has achieved an ambition of long standing—that of seeing the land of the Hellenes under totalitarian rule such as exists in Italy and Germany.

The ostensible reason for the startling advent of a dictator under the recently restored monarchy was the danger from Communistic activities.

Actually this outstanding personality, who overshadows every one else in Greek public life, for years has been against parliamentary government and in favor of absolute dictatorship such as practiced by Mussolini and Hitler.

Metaxas brings to his position an exceptionally varied experience at home and abroad, knowledge of international affairs and the forcefulness of the born soldier who has spent many years of his sixty-five years in commanding others.

General Metaxas is Germanic minded—that is, he is an intense admirer of the German character and culture. This may be due in large degree to the fact that he once was a student in the German military academy. It does not necessarily follow that he approves of all that has happened under the Nazi rule.

SAW ADVENT OF FASCISM

Twice Metaxas was in virtual exile because of political disagreements, and he spent much time in Italy. He had a close-up view on the advent of Fascism under Mussolini, and became convinced that the idea of the totalitarian state was the right one.

As far back as the Balkan war of 1912, Metaxas had established himself as one of the outstanding figures of his time. Recognition of his brilliance came when his government sent him as a mere captain to make a military pact with Serbia. He did his work well—a youngster compared with the grizzled general and colonels who acted for the other side.

He is short and stout—some might say fat. He has a round, pleasant face adorned with a small military moustache, but no one ever called him handsome. His unwavering eyes look out through spectacles.

There is no indication that Metaxas has any intention of abolishing the monarchy. He long has been a friend of the royal family, and took the lead in insisting that George return to the throne.

Observers say, however, there is small doubt that Metaxas intends to do the ruling himself, and he has started out with a strong hand. Presumably his plans for this coup had been in the making for a considerable period.

A couple of months ago he was offered the leadership of the big popular party, and to the amazement of the people he declined it. They could not understand why a premier, who had no party of his own, should refuse such a political asset.

They know now that Metaxas already had the dictatorship in mind. Parties do not fit in with his scheme of things, except the one-man party which is himself.

URGE BAN ON ALL ASIATICS

Native Sons of Canada Demand Distinctive National Flag

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Aug. 13.—The immigration of Asiatic peoples into Canada was the subject of the principal resolution passed at last night's session of the Native Sons of Canada, in convention here.

"We go on record as being utterly opposed to further influx of Orientals into this country, and further, the National Council places itself on record as being in favor of the enactment of such amendments to the immigration and other acts as is necessary to completely prohibit Asiatic immigration into Canada," the resolution read.

SEEK NATIONAL FLAG

The meeting also resolved to have the Canadian government design and adopt a distinctive flag as the national flag of Canada. "Owing to the fact that all other nations in the British Commonwealth of Nations have flags of their own, and that on occasions such as the Olympics, representatives from Canada are humiliated by not having an emblem of their own to represent their country.

"Further, that embassies are forced to use a marine flag to distinguish them from the other embassies of the nations of the British Commonwealth."

The meeting also decided the Native Sons convention will be held every two years in the future instead of annually to enable the national officers to do more constructive work than a one-year term would allow. Provincial conventions will be held to replace the annual national conventions.

Bracken Plans To Carry On

Canadian Press

The Pas, Man., Aug. 13.—The Liberal-Progressive Party in Manitoba will carry on the business of heading a government despite refusal of the Conservative Party to enter an immediate coalition, Premier John Bracken said in an address here last night.

Opening his campaign for re-election in deferred voting here August 21, the Premier reminded his supporters the Conservatives held only sixteen seats with a combined opposition of thirty-seven. The government had only twenty-two seats with a combined opposition of thirty-one.

"If Mr. Willis, Conservative leader, is sincere in his belief we cannot carry on the business of governing the province, how does he hope to accomplish this task?" he asked.

JAPAN POISED FOR NEW DRIVE

Invasion of Suiyuan Province, Inner Mongolia, Said to Be Contemplated

By JAMES A. MILLS
Associated Press Foreign Staff

Shanghai, Aug. 13. — Reinforced Japanese troops, it was reported here last night, are poised for a fresh invasion of Suiyuan Province in Inner Mongolia—adding new tension to strained relations between Japan and China.

Although a Japanese spokesman at Tientsin denied contemplated participation in events in Inner Mongolia, vernacular newspapers here asserted two companies from Jehol, in Manchukuo, had joined the Japanese forces at Dolonor

The Tientsin spokesman for the Japanese attributed the strife in Mongolia to banditry, admitted the situation was complicated; but asserted he was unaware whether two Japanese regiments had departed toward Changpei. The Japanese-Manchukuo military pact, he asserted, does not provide for military assistance beyond the Manchukuo border.

Foreign observers, watching the clouds of dissension gather, believed serious action might result.

Activities of the Japanese army in North China and Inner Mongolia were regarded as grave issues between the two countries. Specific causes of disagreement between them, authoritative Chinese sources contended are:

1. Asserted increase of Japanese troops in Peiping, Tientsin and elsewhere in North China. The Chinese estimate the total at 10,000.

2. Japan's alleged attempts to weaken the authority of the Nanking Government by detaching provinces from China and fostering "autonomous" regimes under Japanese control.

(Nanking now is involved in civil war with Kwangsi Province in an effort to bring it under the Central government.)

3. Japanese economic and political penetration of Inner Mongolia, where Japanese officers and government agents have been appointed as military or political advisers to the native Mongol Government.

WIND SPREADS BLAZE IN B.C.

Farm House Near Natal Destroyed; Mountain Parks Guarded

Canadian Press

Natal, B.C., Aug. 13.—A farm house was destroyed and occupants of several other ranches were preparing to evacuate their homes in the Elk River valley near here today as a raging forest fire advanced upon this town near the Alberta-British Columbia boundary.

The blaze was advancing toward the Big Ranch, twelve miles west of Natal, rangers said. Should the flames reach the ranch, a large game preserve adjacent to it would be endangered.

Falling ashes set a new barn afire. A house and other buildings were saved only by desperate efforts by fire crews.

Many other ranches were in the fire's path. So thick was the smoke haze here the glare of the flames was not visible at night. It was feared the blaze would sweep up the entire valley.

Calgary, Aug. 13.—Breaking the calm prevailing in Alberta's fire-ridden timberlands during the last few days, whirlwinds in the Cascade district of Banff National Park today sent sparks popping into closely-watched surrounding territory.

Jensen planted all his shots into the black at 200, 500 and 600 yards and held undisputed leadership. The highest 150 scores in the qualifying stage go into the final.

CONVENTION TO HEAR TOWNSEND

Associated Press

Cleveland, Aug. 13.—A controversy within the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin's National Union for Social Justice over whether Dr. Francis E. Townsend should address its convention was settled today with an announcement by Coughlin that Townsend would speak to the delegates Saturday.

That will be after the official close of business sessions of the convention, the priest said.

Opposition to appearance of the founder of the Old Age Pension movement had been raised by Walter D. Davis, convention marshal.

Trelle Solves Drought Problem

Canadian Press

Calgary, Aug. 13. — Artificial creation of large bodies of water is the only solution to western Canada's recurring drought problem, in the opinion of Herman Trelle, three times winner of the world wheat king title at Chicago.

The Wembley, Alta., farmer said here last night that "you must feed the clouds if you want rain, just as you must feed the land if you want crops." It was possible, he thought, to increase the prairie water area by 3 per cent.

CAMPBELL IN SCULLS FINAL

Canadian Finishes Third in Semi-finals at Berlin; Leanders Eliminated

Canadian Press

Grunau, Germany, Aug. 13.—Charles Campbell reached the Olympic single sculls finals by finishing third in his semi-final test today, but the other section of Canada's little armada, Hamilton Leanders, was sunk by an English crew.

The husky young Toronto sculler, "bad boy" of the regatta, who appeared on his way out the opening day when he finished third and fell into official disfavor by splashing water in the referee's face, was in the wake of E. Rufli, Swiss star, and Hasenoehrl, Austria, as he qualified for the title test.

Rufli, winner of the last two diamond sculls, won impressively by three lengths. Campbell beat Warren, Great Britain, for third place, and the Englishman was eliminated.

GERMAN WINS

Gustav Schaefer, German powerhouse and European champion, gave the packed stands something to cheer about by winning the other singles semi-final. Dan Barrow, United States champion, and Giogio, Argentina, trailed him across the line in that order.

The Leanders and Canada's hopes of conquest in the eight-oared classic were submerged by a pack of slick sweepswingers from London in the fastest race of the day. The English shell, manned by six Cambridge and two Oxford members of the London Leanders club, flashed a steady sweep the Canucks could not match over the last, decisive stretch of water.

They swept the picturesque 2,000-metre course in 6.29.3 seconds, as against the Canadians' time of 6.33.8.

FULLER LOST WADING RIVER

Believed Chicago Professor Struck Head on Rock and Swept Away

Edmonton, Aug. 13.—Death by drowning came to Leslie Elmer Fuller, fifty-three, Chicago university professor, Saturday last as he attempted to wade across the Barrier River, two days by canoe from Aklavik, according to a message received here today by Royal Canadian signal radio operators.

It was at first believed the professor had been drowned Monday. Word of the tragedy was received in Akalavik Monday when the four youths, two of them Dr. Fuller's sons, accompanying him returned to the post with the body.

The message received today stated: "Fuller party left Aklavik August 2 to make portage over the mountains by the Rat and Bell and Porcupine rivers to Fort Yukon, at which point they intended to catch a Yukon steamer for Whitehorse.

"On August 8 they had reached a point a mile below the Barrier River on the Rat. Boys report Mr. Fuller some distance ahead of party which was "tracking" canoes. Mr. Fuller attempted to wade across the river and they saw no more of him. After considerable searching they discovered the body downstream on a sandbar.

"Surmise Fuller slipped in fast water and fell, bumping his head on a rock and was carried away by the fast stream."

PAGEANT AT WALLA WALLA

Associated Press

Walla Walla, Wash., Aug. 13.—An historical parade, on the same theme as the pageant "Wagons West," sent the four-day Whitman Centennial away today to a lively start as pioneer days and ways again ruled.

The parade depicted events in early-day history here, as Mrs. Jane Ankeny Gose of Walla Walla, chosen pioneer mother and official hostess of the anniversary, began her "reign" over the city.

The day was officially "doctor's day" in recognition of the work of the pioneer Dr. Macrus Whitman as the first physician to practice west of the Rockies and north of California. Officials of the American Medical Association, led by Dr. Park W. Willis, Seattle, presided at a series of addresses.

AIR TRAFFIC IS CONTROLLED

Safety in Aviation Is Aim of New Washington Measures

Associated Press

Washington, Aug. 13.—Seeking to make the airways safer, the United States Bureau of Air Commerce will institute a wider system of aviation "traffic control," Saturday.

Designed to guide planes flying a countrywide network of arterial "air highways," officials said today, the new regulations will fix altitudes at which the craft must fly. They will also set up standards for "blind flying" by operators of private planes.

Already, the Bureau has established "traffic control" stations at the Newark, Cleveland and Chicago airports. It is planning others at Detroit, Pittsburgh, Washington, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

These stations will keep track of all planes moving over the airways and may issue radio orders for changes of speed and direction to insure a smooth flow of traffic with maximum safety.

The new regulations require that all westbound planes fly the "air highways" at even altitudes, such as 2,000, 4,000 and 6,000 feet, and that eastbound craft fly at odd altitudes. As an additional safeguard against collisions, planes crossing an airway must fly at altitudes halfway between those for west and westbound planes, such as 2,500 or 3,500 feet.

Several "emergency altitudes" are designed for use whenever two-way radio communication fails.

The new "blind" flying regulations provide that any pilot of a none-scheduled plane seeking to use the designated airways must inform the bureau of his flight plans, and must hold a satisfactory "rating" for such flying. The ratings are granted only after pilots have demonstrated their ability through flight tests in hooded cockpits during which they rely entirely on radio and instruments.

To carry out the new programme, the Bureau has set up a special section of "airway traffic control."

Blum's Hands-off Plan In Spain Runs Into Snags

worthy that General Franco now has: Twenty Junker transport planes; five German pursuit machines, with original markings erased with black paint; seven Caproni planes of the type the Italians used with deadly effect in Ethiopia.

Sir Percival's dispatch continues the observer also saw "a German expert training Spanish gunners in the use of an anti-aircraft gun described to him as of the latest German type He was told later six of these guns, with a range of nearly 4½ miles, recently were delivered at Seville."

JUNKERS OVER SEVILLE

"It was not unusual," the dispatch continues, "to see one or two Junkers over Seville also on instructional flights. On one occasion he watched three Capronis in perfect formation on a certain alignment which he was told was not usual for Spanish aircraft. He had the impression the greater part of this material and personnel had arrived at Seville only in the last few days as there was a conference at General Franco's headquarters Monday to discuss an aerial offensive against the government forces.

Lord Rothermere's Daily Mail continues its bitter attack on Communist barbarities in Spain. It charges the Madrid government "committed one of the worst crimes in history by arming the scum of Madrid and Barcelona and other Spanish cities, placing deadly weapons in the hands of convicts and, according to some reports, even lunatics. It has thus encouraged ruffianly gangs to murder and massacre nuns and priests and decent people who happen not to be Bolsheviks."

RECRUITING BARRED

Paris, Aug. 13.—The government today barred recruiting in France for Spanish armies as the Quai D'Orsay renewed its drive for a general European neutrality accord.

The dictum was announced formally after a cabinet meeting.

The Blum government could not prevent individual volunteers from crossing the Spanish border, Roger Salengro, Minister of the Interior, said, but mass recruiting would not be permitted.

The decision followed directly consideration of questions propounded by Premier Mussolini of Italy on the proposed non-intervention agreement.

Mussolini specifically had brought up the question of recruiting and the collection of funds to help either side in the Spanish rebellion.

Germany alone stood aloof from the French initiated European pact for non-intervention. Acceptances were on hand from practically every nation in Europe.

Germany's delay was reported due to negotiations now under way directly between Berlin and Madrid for a settlement of Germany's alleged grievances against the Spanish government.

DISCUSS CHANGES IN SCHOOL SYSTEM

George Deane, municipal inspector, explained junior high schools included Grades 7, 8 and 9, the last mentioned of which corresponded to first year high school in Victoria.

To institute a junior high would require centralization of approximately 1,500 students almost equally divided between the three years. Centralization, under present economic conditions, was virtually an impossibility, he said, but some start might be made by introducing junior high school work to a greater extent in certain of the grade schools.

Trustee Charles Bishop said the survey for which Trustee Ferguson had asked would be purely for informative purposes at the present.

Trustee Mrs. D. L. MacLaurin said a junior high school was highly desirable, in her opinion, but that the present did not seem an opportune time to campaign for it. When a new school was to be erected she thought the junior high school plan should secure very serious consideration. She thought the board should await the release of the curricular revision committee, however, before anything was done.

CONSIDER REVISION

Trustee Ferguson suggested the experts making the proposed survey might overcome all difficulties by keeping in mind curricular revision.

Trustee Moresby declared himself unwilling to support the survey move until he knew what it would cost. Similar opinions were expressed by Trustees Walter Staneland and John Wallace, who believed the physical features of Victoria's schools should receive attention before money was spent in a survey.

The motion for a survey, presented by Trustee Ferguson, was defeated, but one by Trustee Bishop asking the chairman to strike a committee to ascertain costs of such from the provincial government was carried.

Trustees Ferguson, Wallace and George were appointed to that committee.

WEBSTER WILL AID CANDIDATE

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Aug. 13.—Arnold Webster, in his letter to the C.C.F. nominating convention for Vancouver-Burrard Tuesday night, in which he withdrew his name, said, "I wish, however, to pledge my whole-hearted support to the C.C.F. in the forthcoming contest. I shall be prepared to assist whomever you select as your candidate in any way that I can.

"My reasons for refusing the nomination at this time are personal. I trust that no one will interpret my action as indifference to the movement or as opposition to the provincial body. If the C.C.F. was worthy of our allegiance in 1935 it is equally worthy of it today."

When the five enemies are killed in retaliation a dot is drilled beside the cross to show the score has been settled.

LEGISLATION GIVEN PRAISE

Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act of Inestimable Value

Canadian Press

Charlottetown, Aug. 13.—Canada's new Farmers' Creditors' Arrangement Act, under which already more than 20,000 of the Dominion's farmers carrying an approximate combined debt of $125,000,000, and their creditors, have reached new settlement terms, was Parliament's "finest and best act passed in recent years," Justice A. C. Saunders declared in an address before King's County Supreme Court.

Justice Saunders was appointed chairman of the province's Board of Review under the act last spring.

He said: "My four months' experience in dealing with the Farmers' Creditors' Arrangement Act has convinced me that it is doing a work of inestimable value both to farmer and creditor."

The far-reaching legislation represented effort of the federal Parliament to provide simple mechanism with which debt adjustment could be arranged in fairness to all, he stated.

Although the new act had only been in operation one year, there were many instances indicating "the outstanding value of this legislation, especially to farmers whose homes have been preserved as a result of it, and through the removal or easement of unbearable burdens of debt," the Summerside jurist pointed out.

The "easement" of farmers' debt burdens had been accomplished not at the expense of creditors, but as a result of a "happy and satisfactory adjustment made under the provisions of this act," Justice Saunders said.

A few complaints against the legislation had been made by "some who consider the act a very unfair and unjust one," the provincial chairman had found. They had come chiefly from "those whose securities or claims were adversely affected by the operation of the act."

The speaker said he was convinced, however, no better plan could have been devised to alleviate the ills of the depression and inspire confidence, not only in the farmer, but the creditor as well.

Justice Saunders continued: "As the benefits arising from the Farmers' Creditors' Arrangement Act become appaient, we naturally find fewer complaints. The mere fact that there has been a rearrangement in terms capable of fulfillment of obligations would be in itself of inestimable advantage to debtor and creditor alike, but much more important . . . would be the changed mental attitude of both farmer and creditor, the restoration of understanding and following directly thereupon the restoration of credit."

Perhaps the greatest benefit of the act, the Board of Reeview head thought, was that the farmer had been given back his "individual freedom in the matter of dealing with his fellows . . . and he now is in a position to proceed with his work on the land with confidence."

Professor Murray MacNeill, former registrar of Dalhousie, will confer the degrees in the absence of President Carleton W. Stanley and the President Emeritus Dr. A. Stanley Mackenzie.

Wheat Carry-over Greatly Reduced

Stocks of Grain in Storage at End of July Placed at 108,747,059 Bushels, Showing Decline of 94,525,957 Bushels; Lightest Figure in Seven Years

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Aug. 13.—The Dominion Bureau of Statistics today issued complete figures for the nation's wheat carry-over at the end of the crop year, July 31, placing it at 108,747,059 bushels, a decline of 94,525,957 since the end of the 1934-35 crop year, and the lightest figure in seven years.

The bureau said of farm stocks of wheat, estimated at 5,520,000 bushels, the holdings in the prairie provinces were 4,550,000 bushels, the lowest since 1930.

In addition to the stocks of Canadian wheat held in Canada at July 31, 1936, there were 19,268,321 bushels of wheat held in the United States. Last year, at July 31, there were 11,704,536 bushels.

"In comparing these two figures, qualification is necessary, since a high proportion of the Canadian wheat now in the United States is already sold to the United States mills and is merely held in bond there until needed in the grist," the report said.

"Roughly, one-half of the wheat now in the United States is probably car-marked for the United States mills and, strictly speaking, should not be included in a carryover statement comparable with previous years."

Total stocks of grain in Canada at July 31, with 1935 and 1934 figures in brackets: Wheat, 108,747,059 (203,273,016) (193,990,281); oats, 40,447,390 (26,470,703) (31,060,497); barley, 9,895,590 (5,559,536) (11,092,039); rye, 3,210,545 (3,137,172) (4,020,234); flaxseed, 269,287 (312,979) (471,295).

The following table shows detail of grain stocks in Canada at the end of the crop year. Quantities in farmers' hands are compiled from crop correspondents.

Selassie Now More Cheerful

Associated Press

Bath, Eng., Aug. 13. — Emperor Haile Selassie is resting here hoping some day to re-establish his Ethiopian kingdom.

The Negus apparently is more cheerful than at any time since the League of Nations gave a cold shoulder to his plea for financial assistance. He has taken heart, his spokesman said today, by reports that remnants of his armies are operating in western Ethiopia and hope to retake Addis Ababa.

"We are in a strong position with an established seat of government at Gore," the Negus's representative asserted: "The chief difficulty is that we are unable to import munitions."

The Negus, who sought refuge after the diplomatic defeat at Geneva last month, planned to remain several weeks more formulating a programme of action and awaiting developments in Ethiopia. He is not going to America in search of sympathy, his representative said, but there was no definite assertion that he had abandoned plans for the trip entirely.

REBEL LEADERS ARE EXECUTED

Canadian Press from Havas

Barcelona, Aug. 13.—Gens. Manuel Goded and Al Varo Fernandez Burriell were executed by a firing squad yesterday for having organized the abortive military uprising of the Barcelona garrison.

The rebel leaders were taken from the prison ship Uruguay in Barcelona harbor at dawn and shot in the moat of Montjuich fortress.

They had been convicted by a court martial which sat on the prison ship, where hundreds of military rebels are still being held.

Action Soon On Housing Scheme

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Aug. 13.—The National Employment Commission last night issued a statement saying its studies of the housing problems in Canada "have shown that rehabilitation and remodeling of existing structures present particularly favorable promise for early action" in its drive against unemployment.

At the same time, the statement said, the commission has found it advantageous to divide its work into two main classifications: "Formulation of such emergency measures as may be helpful in mitigating the severity of the seasonal employment problem" and "the longer-range plans."

The statement emphasized such plans "require considerable study and analysis as a preliminary to the adoption."

It said:

"Individual commissioners have spent some times in visiting areas which involves special problems, as for instance, Windsor, where special circumstances exist which have led to unusual restrictions on employment opportunities.

"The stage is now being reached where the situation can more specifically be explored with provincial government administrators.

"Steps are now on the way to develop a form of organization which will assist in enlisting an ever-enlarging co-operative effort on the part of the community as a whole towards solving many of the existing complex employment problems."

SAYS BRITISH LABOR GROWS

William Gallagher, Scottish Communist M.P., Addresses Meeting in Toronto

Canadian Press

Toronto, Aug. 13.—"In every part of Great Britain the movement for unity of working-class parties is growing rapidly," William Gallagher, Communist member for West Fife, Scotland, in the British House of Commons, told a meeting here last night.

"The workers know," he said, "that a Socialist government in France demands a Socialist government in Britain, so that these two countries may beat back Fascist aggression.

"There were those who said that Russia was different, that what happened there could not happen in democratic countries. Then Germany provided a exhibition of reactionism more brutal than even the Czarist government. Now there is Spain, and still there are those who say, 'but it can't happen in Canada.'

"Monopoly capitalism cares more for its privileges than it does for democracy and human life. The world is aflame, and Canada, too, will burn unless working class parties unite in an effort to prevent war and fascism."

SCORES BALDWIN

"I saw the Vimy pilgrims lined up in Westminster Hall," he continued. "Baldwin told them he was for peace and ended by saying that if the nations of the world could not find any other solution than warfare the world deserved to perish.

"But what they did not see was Baldwin standing in the House of Commons demanding money for more and more armaments. For defence, they say. Is there anyone who thinks the National Government wants to defend the unemployed? Are they defending them from relief cuts? Do they vote money to increase miners' wages to a decent level, or to make the pits safe for them? No, the government flatly refuses a penny.

"I understand your grafters on this continent simply put their hands in the till. Our grafters work in the most gentle, polished manner, and they don't go to jail for it, they go to the House of Lords.

In Canada on a lecture tour, Mr. Gallagher has so far been denied permission to enter the United States. He said the main reason he wished to visit the United States was to see his sister in Chicago. Yesterday, however, the sister arrived in Toronto and greeted her brother for the first time in twenty years. Today Mr. Gallagher is scheduled to speak in Windsor.

Await Ruling On Alberta Scrip

Dominion Cabinet at Meeting Next Week Will Hear If Certificates Legal

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Aug. 13.—When the cabinet meets next week, it is expected the report of the Justice Department on the question of whether the Alberta Government has legal and constitutional right to issue prosperity certificates will be available.

At the conclusion of a brief meeting of the cabinet yesterday, Prime Minister Mackenzie King said the report will be considered some day next week, when a larger attendance of ministers may be expected. At yesterday's meeting only routine matters were dealt with and no announcements followed the discussion.

The question of Alberta's right to issue prosperity certificates was raised in a telegram to the Prime Minister from Edmonton Chamber of Commerce. The Edmonton body asked action by the Dominion to prevent issue of the certificates.

The Chamber of Commerce said it had been informed issue of the certificates was in contravention of Dominion control over currency and legal tender.

A Satisfactory Arrangement

THE BRITISH COLUMBIA AGRICultural Association, Central Films Ltd., and the City Council have reached an agreement under which the moving picture industry at the Willows will not be disturbed. This is as it should be. As Dr. Tolmie very properly implied at yesterday morning's meeting, this is a time for honest co-operation in order that the Fall Fair and the infant, but growing, movie industry, shall flourish.

This newspaper always has been a warm supporter of the annual exhibition at the Willows. It has recognized that it is the one time in the year when the products of the farm and the factory may be assembled within a comparatively small compass so that the consuming public may know what is produced in their community. This alone should be sufficient incentive to attract out citizens, to induce them to patronize the exhibition not only from an entertainment point of view but also because an examination of the various exhibits has a conspicuous educational value.

As for the moving picture industry, The Times already has set forth its views in support of the contention that it should not be disturbed, that it should not be put to expense and inconvenience if it could be avoided. Central Films Limited has gone ahead much faster than the most optimistic of its officials had expected. The company is now finishing its sixth picture, is employing between seventy and ninety local people, besides giving local tradesmen substantial business, and there is every prospect that within a very short time production will be doubled —with, of course, its corollary of still more business.

It is to be noted, too, that the studio of Central Films Limited is the only complete plant in Canada and the largest independent studio on the continent. And all its disbursements, as far as Victoria is concerned, is "found money." The company has asked for no financial assistance. Hence, it is all to the good that an amicable arrangement, relative to the contract between the concern and the exhibition authorities, has been reached.

He Knows What War Is

THE OTHER DAY GENERAL SIR Ian Hamilton addressed the Derbyshire branch of the British Legion at Chatsworth, the ancestral home of the Devonshires, and commenced his speech with this: "For Heaven's sake make friends with Berlin." Some members of his audience, perhaps, were shocked, but he explained himself, as reported in The Glasgow Herald, as follows:

> Why people who are so easily frightened should question a firm offer of a twenty-five years' peace instead of taking the peace first and asking the questions afterwards, reminds me of some generals who are, of course, brave as lions but always manage to put off the battle till next day, when their men will be rested.
> They forget that the enemy will probably not be resting. In the case of Germany we have rested our men too long: the auctioneer's hammer has fallen, but it is to another bidder. So now, wherever we turn, the clouds are gathering, the lightning flickers, and we hear the muttering of the coming storm.
>
> As an old soldier who has studied storms, let me put a pinch of practical knowledge into the orations of those whom we hear comparing quite complacently the numbers of our planes and airships with those of foreign nations, as if that was all there is to it.
>
> The effect of "fire" is measurable by two main factors—the accuracy of the aim and the size of the bull's-eye.
>
> France and Paris, Germany and Berlin are more or less like ordinary targets made up of "bull's-eyes," "inners," "magpies" and very large "outers." In Great Britain and London the "inner" and "magpie" are merged into one huge "bull's-eye" sitting in the middle of an "outer" speckled with half a dozen negligible spots.
>
> So remember that as between airplanes the target is one half of the battle, and, in any case, that, if it comes to mutual wiping out of capitals, Berlin is a poor exchange for London.
>
> Therefore, if now at the eleventh hour there is still time, for Heaven's sake make friends with Berlin.

Sir Ian goes to the root of the matter when he says, "Berlin is a poor exchange for London." Those who know London, its congested areas—Poplar and Hammersmith, Canning Town and Southwark, Mile End Road and Chiswick High Street, not forgetting Ealing, Putney, Richmond, Peckham Rye, and Streatham, realize what a couple of hostile squadrons of airplanes could do.

H. G. Wells, in his "War in the Air," predicted what would happen to what is popularly known as "central London"—but he was laughed at. Illustrations in that thirty-three-year-old so-called phantasy showed triplanes dropping bombs on Trafalgar Square, a great aeronautical park in Germany which released great "balloons" to wreak death and destruction wherever they chose to go.

The book which Mr. Wells wrote in those far-off days was wide of the mark. He could have multiplied all his prophetic visions by three or four—and then he still would have been wide of the mark.

Two Frontiers

TWO FRONTIERS INVITE THE world's attention these days. One stretches for 4,000 miles between the United States and Canada. The other runs a shorter distance between France and Spain.

Along the Canadian-United States frontier there is peace; peace so firmly established, so taken for granted, that there are no guns to enforce it, and no one ever stops to think that it is anything especial in the way of a blessing.

On the Franco-Spanish border there are guns, tension, and watchfulness. From below the Pyrenees come the crackle of firearms and the smoke of battle; on the mountains, anxious guards peer to the south, and to the north French statesmen try to make out the shape of things to come in the battle smoke.

It is quite within the bounds of possibility that the question of life or death for some millions of healthy, young Europeans will hinge on what happens in Spain in the next few months.

There is a contrast between these two frontiers which goes far deeper than the mere fact that one border is fortified and the other is not. That fact is merely a symbol; back of it there are two utterly dissimilar conceptions of the way human society can be conducted.

The North American conception is that of a world in which men will get along very well together if they are just left alone and allowed to work out their own salvation according to their lights. It begins with the assumption that the human race is made up of men of goodwill, reasonable men who will find and take the better course if they have a chance to look for it.

The European conception is the reverse. It must have walled boundaries to divide man from man. It does not admit that there are enough good things in the world to go round, but suggests that only a few fortunate groups can get them—from which it follows, logically, that the good things must be fought for. It assumes that men must be led, whether they like it or not. Its only end is the rule of the mailed fist.

The one conception sees man as a creature of infinite possibilities, and his history as an endless progression from good to better. The other sees him as a blind brute who will relapse into savagery if he is not constantly cuffed into good behavior.

Or, boiling it down, democracy flourishes on this continent while on the other continent it is in dire peril of extinction. And with all its faults, its inconsistencies, and its blunders, democracy is the way of hope for mankind. It calls for freedom—freedom between man and man, and between nation and nation—and it assumes that man is worthy of it.

It is a noble assumption and a great hope. Canadians and Americans have no more sacred duty than to preserve it. Their magnificent frontier, which runs free of suspicion and fear from sea to sea, marks a road to the fulfillment of the race's grandest dream.

In Quebec Next Monday

NEXT MONDAY IN THE ANCIENT province of Quebec the electors will have to send ninety members to the provincial Legislature. They will have 207 to choose from.

Union Nationale, headed by Maurice Duplessis, has placed a solid phalanx of ninety candidates in the field. Liberal supporters of Premier Adelard Godbout's government number eighty-eight, having failed to place candidates in two divisions against men known to be friendly to them. Candidates other than Union Nationale or Liberal totaled twenty-nine.

For the first time in thirty-six years the name of Taschereau is not before the electorate. When he handed over the premiership to Mr. Godbout, his Minister of Agriculture for six years, Mr. Taschereau, who represented Bellechasse since 1930, went with him.

Mr. Duplessis declared in Quebec last night the policy of his party was to "restore honesty and justice in the administration of the province."

Next Monday's voting in Quebec will be interesting for the fact that it may reveal what the people of the ancient province are thinking about provincial policies. Federally, of course, the contest has no special significance.

Notes

Nobody is a hero to his doctor.

To him that hath shall be given. The people who usually get praise are those who do not need it.

The fan who hit the umpire with a bottle at a recent big league baseball game in the east has not been found yet, although Judge Landis, baseball czar, has offered $5,000 reward for him. An instance of real modesty!

Hon. John Hart "balanced his budget" on the eighteenth green yesterday. He was two down at the thirteenth; but that mystic number merely spurred him on. He won the next three holes. He must have been thinking of his native Leitrim—saying to himself: I'll trim my estimable opponent yet. And he did.

The most popular sport today is neither baseball nor football, golf nor tennis. It is, on the contrary, the age-old sport of swimming. This finding is reached by statisticians of the United States National Recreation Association which reports that in 1935 no fewer than 46,500,000 people went to the public beaches and 18,000,000 to the outdoor swimming pools. This compares with a seasonal participation in baseball of 10,250,000 people and in golf of slightly more than 6,500,000. Just what moral should be drawn from all this we do not know; unless, perhaps, it be that swimming, the most informal of all sports, and the cheapest, is also one of the most enjoyable.

Loose Ends

In England they speak out while the spinsters here are terrified by such notions — the Vicar goes to the beach and sees things —and 250,000 people are thinking.

SPINSTERS

INTELLECTUALLY SPEAKING, we Canadians seem to be a race of invertebrates. You hear that a lot of dangerous notions are going about our country these days and some timid souls are shocked by the occasional letter to the editor or even by some wisp of an idea contained in this department. When you read some of the more respectable Old Country reviews you realize that, compared with the English, we are poor bloodless spinsters in the realm of politics and public affairs.

For some months I hadn't seen The New Statesman and Nation and to read an accumulation of its issues was like getting a fresh breeze off the sea. If you were to say in Canada half the things said in this perfectly reputable publication, in which people like Keynes and Bertrand Russell are constantly writing, you would be ostracized from society; probably put into jail. Certainly you would be cut by your friends.

Here in one issue we have Russell, who is regarded as Britain's number one thinker and philosopher, declaring that in the approaching war Britain will fight on the side of Hitler and Fascism if the present government remains in power; and if this happens, says he, quite calmly, the British Empire will immediately break up, and the British people will be forced to accept Fascism, perhaps for centuries.

On top of this interesting prediction. The New Statesman and Nation itself adds, with complete British candor, that the ruling classes of Britain are being overcome by German propaganda, while Mr. Keynes, number one British economist, refers blandly to the "disastrous incompetence and the humiliating failures of our Foreign Office." If anybody said those things here he would be considered disloyal to the King (who, as a matter of fact, has nothing to do with it), and all the spinsters of the community, male and female, would whimper piteously.

EVEN RELIGION

IN ENGLAND you can say anything, so long as you do it respectably, even about religion, a subject taboo here. The New Statesman and Nation remarks cheerfully that "Buchmanism (the Oxford Group) is unconsciously part of the Fascist movement." Say that here, and the editors of local newspapers would be drowned in a sea of protest letters.

This excellent review even dares to attack the salaries paid to bank clerks, a scandal common, apparently, to the world at large, and particularly distressing in Canada, but which no respectable person likes to mention and which the provincial government cannot tackle under its Minimum Wage Law because banks are controlled federally. No federal government has ever done anything about it.

THE VICAR

BUT THE CHOICEST BIT, I think, is the opinion of a well-known churchman on the subject of the human anatomy. His observations on the seashore had convinced him that men were "all angles and bones." "Every part of the male composition," he says, "ought to be covered. I would not say the same about the female. She is a delight to look upon, all curves, symmetry and perfect grace. Men are perfectly horrible."

Can you imagine what would happen to a local vicar if he expressed such an opinion? Even though, of course, it is, in general, quite true and very sound. It is sound because the only valid reason against nudity in this hot weather is aesthetic—nudity is generally ugly and should not be permitted to disfigure the landscape any more than ugly advertising signs and outrageous buildings of pink stucco. But the bronzed figures of young men, stripped to the waist and working by the roadside, are becoming, contrary to the English vicar's opinion, some of the most attractive scenic features of our island countryside. The girls in bathing suits sometimes look all right, too, but not often. On the whole, the vicar seems to have been a little too enthusiastic about them.

JUST 250,000

IN THE UNITED STATES, according to a writer in The Atlantic Monthly, there are "only about 250,000 people whose opinions are important in matters of grave concern. As these people go, so go the others. The thinking of these people starts the ball rolling. It never rolls until they start it."

This is probably true in proportionate numbers in Canada as well. But why let the public know it? The public is happy in the belief that it does its own thinking. In any gathering of more than two or three people these days, some one is always proclaiming his own original ideas which he got from some gentleman in Montreal or Vancouver; but he doesn't know it. Thus it gives him a real thrill to imagine that he is imagining things for himself, an innocent delusion which one should hesitate to destroy. Millions enjoy this pleasure, their only one during the depression.

The only original thinkers left in the world are those who live in solitude, out in the open spaces, where the dangerous infection of modern ideas does not easily penetrate; but, alas, even they are losing their immunity, what with the radios and the newspapers going everywhere.

I used to know a couple of prospectors in the Cariboo who had some original ideas years ago. One of them had a plan for setting up an hereditary dynasty in British Columbia and the other had developed a cure for all physical ailments by hanging himself from the rafters of his cabin by the ankles, with successful results. But the last time I saw them they were talking about socialism and Social Credit. They had lost their fine freshness of thought and were unconsciously using the ideas of other people like Dr. Telford and Mr. Aberhart.

So is nearly everybody, even you and I, one way or the other; ah, you plead, not Dr. Telford's or Mr. Aberhart's. Well, perhaps not theirs, but somebody else's probably less intelligent. One shouldn't worry too much about that, however, for there are only two or three ideas in the world, anyway. And don't acquire an inferiority complex merely because you don't belong to the 250,000 thinkers who dominate the civilization of this continent. They have nothing to be proud of. Just take a look at this continent and you will realize that my two prospectors, before their corruption, were much more use in the world and far less dangerous than most of the 250,000.

The work of redemption is the most glorious of all the works of God; it will forever remain the grand mirror to reflect the brightest beams of the divine glory.—Emmons.

Lord God, I thank Thee that Thou hast been pleased to make me a poor and indigent man upon earth; I have neither house nor land nor money to leave behind me.—Luther.

No possessions are good, but by the good use we make of them; without which wealth, power, friends, and servants, do but help to make our lives more unhappy.—Sir William Temple.

Letters to The Editor

REPLY TO MR. SHEPPARD

To the Editor:—I regret that Mr. Sheppard takes occasion to split hairs over my recent accurate and entirely friendly reference to himself, and to utilize it to make unjust insinuations against Mr. Connell and myself.

The facts are that eighteen months ago he attacked me for not accepting Marxian Communism, and, on my pointing out that this was inconsistent with the creed of the C.C.F. to which he belonged, he retorted, "why then does the C.C.F. sell and advise the perusal of Marxian literature, including the Communist Manifesto? Why are we advised to profit by the lectures of A. M. Stephen, prominent speaker of the C.C.F., who wrote the pamphlet, 'Marxism—The Basis of the New Social Order'? Why are we continually assured by Frank Roberts, official lecturer and teacher of C.C.F. ideology, that the crux of the whole matter was the class-struggle and that when a majority became class conscious the revolution would become an accomplished fact?"

And he might well have added, "Why is most of the literature sold by the clubs Marxian propaganda from Communist headquarters" in New York?"

I was, therefore, absolutely correct in stating that "C.C.F. Clubs, as Mr. Guy Sheppard proved, are centres of Communist propaganda," and his denial is only made possible by his unfair substitution of the term "Communism" for "Communist propaganda," and his basing on that substitution distinctions between his and other shades of Communism that are wholly irrelevant to my statement which deals with the propaganda of the C.C.F., not the opinions of its members.

He is equally unfair in charging me with accepting "the theories of Marx and Strachey" and rejecting their "ultimate conclusions." Since they are competent economists, and agree on the point with all other economists, I have no hesitation in accepting their exposure of the fallacies of the Social Credit delusion. In so doing I am not accepting "a theory" but a "demonstrable truth" and, as Mr. Sheppard has testified, I deal only in the latter. That does not bind me to accept any and every theory they advance, when they dogmatize in the realms of sociology. Mr. Sheppard has no justification for raising such an objection for I recently handed him for perusal a reasoned statement of the facts and arguments which make it impossible for me, as a rational scientist, to accept what are in essence religious dogmas based on the discredited metaphysics of Hegel, from whom Marx and Mrs. Eddy both derived their philosophies.

As Mr. Sheppard well knows, I reject all metaphysics, Marxian included, as subtle forms of superstition. Marxian dogmas are as truly the product of wishful thinking as those of Douglas, Aberhart, Huey Long, Dr. Townsend, Father Coughlin and of Hitler. Space does not now permit me to deal with Mr. Sheppard's ungenerous and unfounded insinuations about Mr. Connell and myself, who have both grown old in a cause which he only recently embraced under the urge of economic stress.

It ill becomes him to throw stones at men who in their youth needed nothing but their sense of justice and intellectual integrity to adopt the cause of the desolate and oppressed, who all their lives have made "reason the pace; increase of knowledge the way, and the benefit of mankind the end" and who once more, now that false and ignorant prophets are leading "the people forth to look for enchantments, have set their faces towards the wilderness."

That $25,000

From The Stewart News and Northern B.C. Miner

Vancouver puts on a celebration, goes into debt over it and, despite the fact that thousands of people in Vancouver have profited—and some very largely—the province is asked for, and does vote, $25,000 to help pay the loss.

That $25,000 could very easily have been put up by some of the Vancouver interests that profited. Why should the people of this whole province have to pay for Vancouver's pleasure and profit? Many a prospector, miner, farmer, or other primary producer of this province, on whom Vancouver actually lives, was not able either to profit by or enjoy that jubilee celebration, in which case why should he have to contribute? If Stewart or any other town puts on a celebration and has a loss, will the government help to meet it? No, not a chance in the world. For if it did, loud would be the protests from Vancouver.

Our friends in Vancouver are the last people that should engage in their chief pleasure at various club luncheons, on lecturing the pioneer districts of this province on refraining from pressing the government for expenditures. Vancouver always has and always will bludgeon the government of this province if it can into doing its bidding. If Vancouver wants to go on a spree, let her citizens pay for it. That $25,000 would have provided far more work and wages on a selected mining road or trail than on a spree for Vancouver. When Vancouver practices what it preaches to the pioneer districts, it is time enough for the pioneer districts to listen.

ANY FOOL CAN FARM"

Miss Agnes McPhail, M.P., in the House of Commons

People think that any fool can farm. They think that all a farmer has to do is to scratch the earth and sow some seed. Actually a successful farmer must be a good administrator. He has to know everything. He must be a good horticulturist, a cerealist, and a stock breeder. Running a farm is no job for an amateur.

TO SHIRLEY

How Victoria's children love you,
With your smile like break o' day!
Like a sunbeam on the meadow,
You can chase the frowns away!

Every happy mother loves you
For your voice—unspoiled by pride,
Comforts many a weary sufferer,
Bringing joy, where joy had died.

Shirley, may you long remember
Our fair city; may we stay,
As the picture shows your image,
Fresh in memory's book, alway!

C.C.F. Platform Is Under Fire

Executive Has Head in Clouds, Says Grand Forks Club

A "noisy majority" dominated the C.C.F. convention at which the new provincial platform of the party was drafted, says the Grand Forks C.C.F. Club in supporting Rev. Robert Connell, deposed House leader of the party, against the provincial executive.

Following is the text of the club's letter to the provincial executive setting out its views in the matter:

"The Grand Forks C.C.F. Club held a special meeting on Wednesday, August 5, to consider what action should be taken in regard to the split between the provincial executive, certain M.L.A.'s and other prominent C.C.F. members. The minutes of the special meeting of the provincial executive held July 29, together with the correspondence between Lyle Telford and Robert Connell, were read and discussed; also your offer to send speakers to address our meeting to explain, as you put it, 'more fully the machinations of this discontented group.'

"By a motion duly made and seconded, which carried unanimously, I am instructed to advise you of the stand this club takes in this matter.

"1. We are opposed to much of the B.C. provincial platform as adopted at the 1936 convention. Plank 2 savors too much of the comic opera attempt to govern by the Social Credit Party of Alberta. It reads: 'The adoption of provincial socialized finance.' What form of provincial socialized finance? And is there mere than one form? Surely you must know that a provincial government has no jurisdiction over the issuing of money. (Quotes Section 138 of the Bank Act.)

"We cannot believe that the convention considered the platform, and especially this plank, in detail, and decided it was sound and designed to meet the situation facing the people of B.C., as you claim in your statement to the press.

"Confident that no one understands how a provincial government can put this plank into operation, we have not the slightest hesitation in affirming we do not understand it and are absolutely opposed to it.

"2. We are of the opinion that paragraph 4 of said statement is just a lot of words.

"3. We also fail to see how the resolution mentioned in paragraph 6 gives control of elected representatives to the movement as a whole, as you claim. We think it gives control to a minority — the provincial executive—who are not representative of the movement in B.C. We are of the opinion that the 1936 convention was ruled by a noisy minority; that the system of electing members to the provincial executive is most imperfect; that delegates from outside points know nothing of the persons for whom they are voting and are too often swayed by persons whose ability to speak and whose knowledge of mob psychology is no measure of their understanding of the original Regina manifesto. It is regrettable that of necessity the provincial executive has to be made up of Vancouver and district residents, but it should be constantly borne in mind that without the rest of the province Vancouver would be non-existent. We believe a member elected in Grand Forks-Greenwood, say, should represent the people of Grand Forks-Greenwood and not the provincial executive. It is apparent all through your statement that you attempt to damn Robert Connell with faint praise. Few of us are personally acquainted with Mr. Connell, but we can hardly believe that he is the weak tool of a small group who have, you say, betrayed the movement. Who are these men? And in what way have they betrayed the movement? Does criticism of an impractical platform and disagreement with the provincial executive constitute betrayal?

"4. We are opposed to control of The Commonwealth being turned over to the provincial executive. It is too dangerous. We understand that stock in this paper is held mostly by clubs and private members. This is control enough. If it were taken over it would be on the same basis as the radio. Is it a fact that Lyle Telford reserves one night a week for his own use? In the event of The Commonwealth being taken over, would W. A. Pritchard reserve one issue a month for the same purpose?

"5. Finally, we are afraid that unless the provincial executive gets its head out of the clouds it will be expelling whole clubs after it runs out of M.L.A.'s and in its own opinion the C.C.F. (B.C. section) will consist only of itself."

Central Annex To Be Repaired

With Trustees Kenneth Ferguson and Charles Bishop voicing strenuous protest, the City School Board at its meeting yesterday evening decided to re-roof the Central School annex, used for technical school work, at a cost of $650.

Trustee Bishop stated it would be "a crime to put a new roof on that shack of a building," and Trustee Ferguson urged greater study of the matter before any action were taken. He felt that the number of vacant classrooms in virtually all city schools might well be used to house that class.

Trustee Percy George, chairman of the building and grounds committee, urged the undertaking to protect the health and sight of those who studied there. He was joined in his plea by Trustee Mrs. D. L. MacLaurin and supported by Trustees John Wallace and Walter Staneland on the vote.

CITY SCHOOL STAFFS CUT

Teaching Strength Reduced By Seven, Board Meeting Shows

Teaching staffs in Victoria's schools will be reduced by seven members when next term opens, it was learned at the meeting of the city school board yesterday evening.

The number who would be released from service was revealed when Trustee John Wallace, raising a question over school expenses, asked:

"Where does the money go Mr. Deane will save on seven teachers' salaries next term?"

"If we don't use it, it will go back to the city," the chairman, Trustee W. C. Moresby, said.

SCHOOL SEEKS EXTRA GRADE

Bank Street Residents Ask For Inauguration of Fourth Grade

A petition from forty-one residents of Bank Street neighborhood seeking the addition to the district school of a fourth grade, was tabled by the city school board yesterday evening for consideration at the board's adjourned meeting tomorrow night.

The petitioners, representing 100 per cent of those approached on the matter, complained chiefly of the distance Bank Street district students would be forced to go to continue their studies after passing from Grade 3 under the present arrangement. Some went to Margaret Jenkins, some to Oaklands and some to Central, the petitioners said.

DANGER ZONES

In certain cases they had to go through the Dardanelles, while in other cases they were required to cross street-car tracks.

In view of the fact seventeen passed from Grade 3 last year and others whom they claimed were properly Bank Street students, were attending other schools, the petitioners felt the establishment of another grade at the primary institution would be merited. They spoke of the excellent condition of Bank Street School and its accommodation for more pupils.

The petition was presented by E. P. Creech, Mrs. E. A. Sandahl and W. De Gruchy.

The matter was worthy of careful study, George Deane, municipal inspector, informed the board.

Trustee W. C. Moresby, chairman of the board, requested an investigation into the matter.

FLOWER SHOW REPORT MADE

Luxton, Aug. 13. — The monthly meeting of the Luxton and Happy Valley Women's Institute was held Tuesday evening in Luxton Hall, with Mrs. J. Trace presiding.

The secretary presented a statement showing a balance realized from the summer flower show.

A donation of $3.50 was voted to the Salvation Army.

The meeting unanimously endorsed a resolution from the Langford Women's Institute urging the establishment of a technical school on Vancouver Island.

Mrs. J. Trace and Mrs. W. Henderson were appointed conveners for the collection of articles for the Queen Alexandra Solarium.

A silver tea will be held Wednesday afternoon, August 19, at the home of Miss B. Hall, Glen Lake, it was announced.

PARISH PICNIC

The annual parish picnic of St. Michael's, Royal Oak, and St. Columba's, Strawberry Vale, was held at the Elk Lake Athletic Park, Tuesday. Trucks and private cars conveyed the adults and children to and from the picnic grounds, where the afternoon was spent in games of softball, swimming and races. Later supper was served by the Sunday school teachers and ladies of the parish.

Forestry Branch Offers Reward

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Aug. 13.—The provincial forest branch is offering a reward of $250 for information leading to the indiction of persons responsible for bush fires in the Pemberton district. Salt Spring Island Is A Natural Summer Land

Do you often wish for a different week-end motor trip? Does a day spent among ideal surroundings sound good to you? Does that two weeks' vacation mean getting away into the great outdoors? Then go to Salt Spring Island! Whether it be for a few short hours' stay or for the longer pleasure of a week-end or summer vacation the natural beauties of Salt Spring combined with the many outdoor sports offered the vacation seeker, make this island the mecca for all who are taking the road to Vacation Land. There is mountain climbing, golf, tennis, bathing and fishing, all offering a variety of entertainment not to be excelled. The island has a daily car ferry service from Victoria via Swartz Bay and Fulford Harbor, as well as a C.P.R. boat service connection with Vancouver and Victoria via Ganges Harbor.

SWARTZ BAY

Taking the ferry at Swartz Bay and making the half-hour run to Fulford Harbor on Salt Spring is a pleasure worth tasting at least once during the summer. The ferry chugs it way between tree-crowned islands so close it almost seems possible to swim the short distance to the sandy shores. The water is so clear and still, shadow islands are mirrored in the blue green depths. Far on the horizon beyond the islands, snow capped Mount Baker lifts its glistening peak.

As the Cy Peck enters land-locked Fulford Harbor the scenery changes. Green slopes roll back from the shore in a succession of tree-covered ridges that mount higher and higher until they pile up in a series of hills far back in the centre of the island. Tucked in folds of these hills, or in little valleys along the shore, rambling farmhouses, smothered in flowering vines and rambler roses mark this island of Salt Spring not only as a summer resort, but as a fertile farming country and ideal residential spot.

At Fulford Harbor where the ferry docks, the main road leads away through the very heart of the island to Ganges Harbor. From this road branch many smaller roads that entice the motorist to tarry and explore. They lead to little lakes or tiny bays, tucked away in odd corners of the island, that well reward those who will follow the lure of a winding trail.

FULFORD INN

At the very head of Fulford Harbor, on the main road, the Fulford Inn occupies a wonderful position both as to perfection of view and the convenience of its guests. Rebuilt this season, this rambling summer lodge, painted pure white, nestles into its surroundings of green hills with a quiet dignity that draws one instantly. There is a garden where big shade trees and rustic seats create an atmosphere of restful peace. Beyond the garden is a tennis court for the convenience of guests. The inn is modern in every way. There is excellent fishing, bathing and boating.

From the Fulford Inn the main road winds away through the fine farming district of the Burgoyne Valley, turns up through ridges of tall trees and wooded countryside, then down in a series of gentle curves to Ganges Harbor. Ganges is the largest settlement on the island. Here it is that the C.P.R. boat from Vancouver and Victoria docks.

Beyond Ganges there is a choice of two roads, one leading away past St. Mary's Lake, where there is fine bass fishing, and the other winding across to Vesuvius Bay, a spot that boasts its own special attractions. It is here one gets a panoramic view of the coast of Vancouver Island from Mill Bay at the foot of the Malahat, to Chemainus, far up the coast. Vesuvius Bay is also noted for its fishing. In fact, the whole of Salt Spring is a fishermen's paradise.

For the holiday seeker who prefers to take his time, who likes to tramp about the country delving into the history of the people and finding out the stories connected with each and every place, Salt Spring offers a wealth of history and tradition. Indian tales there are of mighty warriors, of fierce battles, and the folklore of their race. Then, too, there are tales of the early pioneers. Salt Spring has been settled far back down the years, the oldest residence established by a white man being as early as 1859.

PROSPECTING IN B.C.

From The Western Canada Mining News

Few people realize the immensity of the province of British Columbia. This section of Canada is larger than the combined states of Washington, Oregon and California. It is estimated by government engineers that approximately 200,000 square miles of this province is virgin prospecting territory. The opportunities for prospectors are, therefore, large. Pobably one of the firfest opportunities for those who care to risk their money in mining ventures lies in the grubstaking of prospectors of proven worth.

BEACH CLUB GIRL

by MABEL McELLIOTT

COPYRIGHT 1936 BY NEA SERVICE INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

BOOTS RAEBURN, eighteen and pretty, is openly snubbed by SYLVIA RIVERS, the richest girl in Larchneck, fashionable New York suburb. Sylvia fails to ask Boots to a party at the Yacht Club. Boots accepts a belated invitation from MRS. WATERMAN, one of the elderly social lights.

HARDY WHITMORE, one of Sylvia's guests, who had been drinking, puts Boots in an embarrassing situation and she is escorted home by RUSS LUND, swimming instructor. The malicious Sylvia seizes this opportunity to hurt Boots and persuades MRS. FERNELL of the Woman's Club to ask Boots to resign from the Juniors.

Young MRS. GEORGE, a neighbor, asks Boots to luncheon. She is sympathetic, tells Boots she ought to get away from Larchneck, and promises to help her find a job.

Russ Lund takes Boots for a drive.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XII

"Well, that will be about enough of that," Boots said to herself in the silence and coolness of her own room. Russ Lund had kissed her and she had explained to him later, gently but firmly, that it simply wouldn't do and that was all there was to it.

She and Russ had had a "good talk" coming home from the shore. She would not have believed that the big, square-shouldered man could be so articulate. She was perfectly right, he agreed. It wouldn't happen again. She was "darned sweet" and he wanted to be friends.

"I managed it rather nicely," Boots told herself, peering at herself in the mirror in the light of the pale electric bulb which swung eerily from a green cord. She felt rather proud of herself on the whole. After all, Russ was definitely older and she had been judicious and mature and charming in the situation, had met it gravely and simply as a woman should. No, she didn't like "this pawing about." It was all right if it happened to be "the real thing," but what she felt for Russ, she had explained carefully and with what she felt was just the proper touch of regret, was merely friendship. A month ago she had not known that this tall bronzed man with the unruly hair and the big, smiling mouth, even existed. He had simply been part of the background along with the dipping sails, the awnings, the iron tables on the club terrace. Now he had definitely come alive. She was conscious of him, his bigness and his strength, but they would remain friends, nothing more—

Just the same she couldn't help noticing that in the mirror her eyes looked enormous, excited. The pupils were dilated. Her color, too, was high. She had a deepened wild rose flush in either cheek. She leaned forward across the littered dressing table top with its jars and pin trays and torn envelopes to stare at herself in frank admiration. Why, she looked different already and she wasn't in love with him at all. It was just that his words, that brief, not-unpleasant moment when she had been crushed close in his arms had done something to her.

"Awakened—I'm awake," she murmured to herself. Oh, all this was foolishness; she was only playing, really. But it was nice to know someone admired you, thought you were beautiful, desirable.

She went to sleep with a little smile of conscious power hovering about her lips. Of course, she wasn't going to let Russ kiss her again, she told herself firmly. He would have to realize she simply couldn't consider him in that way. So it was perfectly all right.

* * *

But of course the thing wasn't settled as simply as that. The summer nights continued to be miracles of scent and sweetness and Boots, in her new-found isolation from "the gang," was very lonely. More often than not, when her father dozed fitfully in the porch swing, a small car would slide up to the curb and the girl would call back softly, "I'm just going down to the Post Road for a few minutes—"

Then she and Russ would be skimming the roads together. He would look down at her and smile that slow smile of his and say softly, "How you coming, sweetness?"

And she would flash him a smile in return. She would be content with that. After that first night he had not touched her again and there was something in his control that piqued the girl unutterably. She had no chance now to play the sweet, equable, womanly role she had decided upon.

Tonight she was not unconscious of looking her best in the plaid brown and yellow organdie, the very frock she had worn to the fateful party at the yacht club.

"I might as well get some good out of it," she had told her image defiantly. She wasn't going any place else and it was cool. She had brushed her yellow halo of curls with especial care. Her small mouth was just touched with a scarlet salve.

"Well, this is our last ride together," she told him, smiling, as the car coasted down a brief grade.

She made the effect she had counted on. The young man at her side said with flattering concern, "Why? What do you mean by that?"

"My mother comes home tomorrow," Boots said, with a brief fluttering laugh in which nervousness and gayety were mingled. "She—she's terribly fussy. She'll think there's something serious about—about this. Our being friends."

He said something under his breath which she did not hear. The scent of the cigarettes he used clung to his rough, shabby tweed coat. His duck trousers were old, too, and many times washed, but to Boots tonight he seemed extraordinarily virile and handsome. He was a man, anyway, she told herself, and that was more than you could say for Johnny or even Hardy Whitmore. They were only children. This man had been to Singapore and Port Said and Shanghai. He had shipped as a common seamon on fruit boats and cattle boats. He had seen the world—

* * *

"What did you say?" Her flower-like face was very close to his. Her small feet, in their shabby black-strapped slippers, were planted squarely on the floorboard, close to his big brogues.

"I said that was a rotten break," Russ told her slowly. "Well, it's been fun and you're a grand little pal and maybe I'll be seein' you. I'm pushing off next week, anyhow—"

A pang shot through her. She swallowed hard. With dry throat she managed the words, "Oh, where? Isn't this a surprise?"

"Not much," drawled the man. "I've been getting restless, hanging around here. I've got an offer to go down on a cattle place in Chile. Anything for a change."

Suddenly she felt that she could not bear it. Why, Russ was her only real friend now. She saved up things to tell him—little things that made him throw back his head and laugh resonantly. On the beach she'd been sitting near his lifeguard station every day now, careless of the curious glances thrown their way. She hadn't minded Sylvia's gathering to herself the usual little sycophantic group as long as she had Russ to talk to. The days had passed quickly. People had looked inquisitively at the small, fair-haired girl with the body of a Tanagra figurine, talking quickly, earnestly to the squarely-built young man with the "lifeguard" sign on his bathing suit. More often than not they had lapsed into a silence more intimate even than words.

"Why, why—I had no idea you were discontented here." Boots stammered quickly, feeling utterly at a loss. "I thought—I rather thought—"

She could not complete the sentence. Hot blood burned her cheeks and pounded in her temples. She must not, simply could not behave this way; it was ridiculous. What would he think?

He seemed not to notice anything. They were on the outskirts of New Martin now. There were lights and shops instead of the pale moons of lamps along a country road.

"I have to be moving along," Russ said simply, easily. "Besides, there's no use me hanging around here any more. You'll be going back to the crowd any day now. You won't know I'm alive—"

She choked on her denial. "How can you say such things? You've been a peach to me. I don't know how I would have got through this summer—"

Tears rose to her eyes, tears of self-pity and wounded vanity—yes, and something else. There was a lump as big as a baseball somewhere in her throat. This was what poets meant when they wrote of the heart's pangs. Why, she was feeling them now as surely and agonizedly as though some pressure were being brought to bear against her swift-beating human heart . . .

Russ brought the little car to a stop in front of a sweet shop. Lights gushed from the gayly decorated window with their bon-bons in pink boxes, their trays of spilling taffies and jars of bright, broken red and green sourballs. Boots stared at the display apathetically.

"Want a drink?"

"Oh, I don't—I don't think so."

Other nights they had laughed at each other in the white heat of this small place across a shining white marble table-top while a youth in a soiled apron slapped down water tumblers and paper napkins and took their orders. Just now the very thought of entering that bright, odorous place sickened her a little.

"Want me to bring one out?"

All right, then, she would have a lemonade. As she sipped the tepid, sweet-sour mixture she regarded her escort over the top of the glass. Why had she never noticed before how really handsome he was? Breath-takingly, she realized that he had come to possess her imagination—it was Russ she looked forward to seeing by day, Russ who filled her night-time dreams.

Seemingly oblivious to any undercurrents of thought, perfectly willing to keep their friendship on the platonic plane Boots herself had chosen only a short ten days before, Russ took from her the half-emptied glass.

He drove her homeward. Every foot of the way was a sort of agony to the young girl.

"I love him," she told herself wildly. "And he doesn't care a thing about me. He's going away. What shall I do?"

Complaint Of Teacher Heard

School Board Requested to Investigate Suspension of Staff Member

The city school board heard its second appeal for an investigation into the release from its service of a school employee yesterday evening, when Mrs. G. M. Havercroft, teacher for several years at Margaret Jenkins School, appeared before it at its regular meeting.

In the other case the appeal for an inquiry over the discharge was made by a painter.

For seventeen years as a teacher she had had no trouble, Mrs. Havercroft said. She dated the cause of her differences back two years, when she and Major A. C. Hinton, superintendent of building and grounds and physical education supervisor, had a disagreement. Mrs. Havercroft produced testimonial letters from teachers with whom she had worked.

Major Hinton asked for notice of all charges to give him an opportunity to reply to them. He said he had met Mrs. Havercroft in her room only once during the last three years.

On that occasion, he said, he had stepped into the classroom from which Mrs. Havercroft was absent, and remonstrated with the children who were making a noise.

George H. Deane, municipal inspector, outlined the incident in which she had shown insubordination by refusing to conduct a class in folk dancing. It was the only complaint he had heard, he said, adding her other work was excellent.

It was not her class, Mrs. Havercroft replied.

STAFF REDUCTIONS

This incident had been taken into consideration when staff reductions were found necessary at the end of the term, Mr. Deane said. On that occasion, with other teachers, she had been requested to take six months' leave of absence or suffer discharge.

She had declined to make immediate application for leave, and had received a certificate of discharge, which Mr. Deane had later torn up when he found she had not sought leave of absence through a misunderstanding.

The matter was tabled for further consideration at the next meeting tomorrow evening.

With it was tabled a petition from ninety-one parents of children attending Margaret Jenkins School, which read in part as follows: "We, the undersigned, would desire you, the Board of School Trustees, to reconsider your decision and have this teacher resume her duties at the beginning of the term. And be it further resolved that an investigation be held of the whole matter as to why the suspension took place."

Fred Oliver and Charles Chivers of the Trades and Labor Council attended the meeting.

PRAYER HELPS

London, Aug. 13.—Lord Willingdon, former Viceroy of India and Governor-General of Canada told Stowe School students "my prayers night and morning have been of enormous help and guidance to me in public and private difficulties."

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

FRIDAY, AUGUST 14, 1936

Although benefic aspects dominate today, adverse influences are active, according to astrology. The morning is a time that is read as favorable to making plans or reaching decisions.

The rule is fortunate for commerce, which next month may develop suddenly along certain lines. Dealers in liquids, especially those recommended by physicians, will profit.

Hospitals come under a sway promising to surgeons and those who direct the institutions. A season of excessive demand upon accommodations is presaged. Legacies and gifts will aid many.

Workers should profit under this planetary government, which seems to foreshadow advancement in wages. Labor leaders will meet extraordinary problems in the coming winter.

Accidents may be even more numerous than usual under this configuration. Loss of human life will spur authorities in cities to more efficient efforts in assuring safety than have marked previous campaigns.

This is a fairly lucky day to seek employment. Young college graduates have the promise of success. The stars favor youth as never before.

Warning is given that astrologers foretell for September a decided turn for the worse in the European situation. Speeding up of defence plans will be evident in the United States.

Real estate continues under the best possible sway. Home ownership will be sought by great numbers of persons who desire to quit cities.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of benefits that come unexpectedly. General success is shown for both men and women.

Children born on this day probably will be intelligent and dependable. Subjects of this sign usually are interested in books and many of them turn to literary work.

John Galsworthy, English author, was born on this day, 1867. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Park Benjamin, poet and journalist, 1809; Ernest Thompson-Seton, writer and painter, 1860.

Superannuation Costs May Force City to Set Age Limit on New Appointments

Economic conditions may force the Victoria school board to engage young applicants only when new appointments are made, according to information at yesterday evening's meeting of the board.

The board received a report from the special committee of Trustees Kenneth Ferguson and Walter Staneland regarding the increasing burden placed upon school finances by the pyramiding charges against Victoria for superannuation of school employees other than teachers.

Accounts from the government left with the board at its last meeting were investigated by the committee. Its members reported the mounting charges arose from money advanced to superannuated school staff members in excess of the amount provided in the actual superannuation account built up by the city. The excess sums were advanced monthly and an interest rate of 5 per cent was being charged against the school board on money furnished by the superannuation body.

The information led Trustee Staneland and himself to a clear realization that the younger the applicants appointed by the board the better it would be for the city, Trustee Ferguson commented.

The liability was increasing, Trustee Staneland noted, adding to meet its requirements the board should not engage any new employee over the age of twenty-five.

The account from the preceding month was ordered paid.

CHINESE FIRM ISSUES WRIT

Seeks to Restrain Marketing Board From Interfering With Its Business

Vancouver, Aug. 13.—A Chinese marketing firm, Lowe Chong Company, yesterday issued a writ against the British Columbia Coast Vegetable Marketing Board asking an injunction restraining the board from interfering with the plaintiff's business of exporting potatoes from British Columbia.

Your Baby's Health

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

Everybody should know by now that children are not born equal, either mentally or physically. Most of them are the sum of their ancestors. Many a parent himself is not as smart as he would like his child to be.

DR. M. FISHBEIN

The first duty of a parent is to find out the limit of the child's intellectual capacity and not to endeavor to drive the child beyond that capacity. The child who cannot think well, remember well, or learn normally, should have the advantage of what science can offer to make the most out of the capacity that it has.

Once it is discovered that a child is mentally slow and that it cannot keep up with other children, the parents must decide what they are to do about its education. But first they must determine by suitable examination that the physical condition of the child is as good as it can possibly be made.

* * *

Out of 400 delinquent children studied in a mental hygiene clinic, it was found that a considerable percentage suffered from easily corrected physical defects. One-third had bad teeth and large adenoids and tonsils.

Many of the children had parents who were handicapped by physical illness—the father being unable to work and the mother being compelled to earn the family living. Many of them had parents who were themselves distinctly neurotic.

There is, of course, some relationship between diseases and intelligence. There are many conditions which do not lessen intelligence, but seem instead to sharpen the mind. Thus, it has been shown that children who are especially sensitive to various food substances are likely to be more alert than are other children.

Out of 1,077 children examined in Glasgow, those suffering from chronic rheumatism or kidney disorders were found to be just as intelligent as any of their brothers and sisters.

On the other hand, those suffering from real disorders of the glands, and with either an excess or deficiency of internal secretions, were found occasionally to depart from normal intelligence levels.

Attempts have been made to correlate height and intelligence. It has been claimed that children of higher intelligence are slightly taller than others. This claim was made in Great Britain, where people in general are taller than people of some other races.

Nobody yet has found that tall Japanese are any smarter than the short ones.

ONTARIO OLD BOYS REUNITE

Memories of early days in the east were refreshed yesterday when approximately 200 Bruce, Huron and Grey Old Boys held their annual basket picnic at Mount Douglas Park.

Sports, including baseball, shuffleboard, horseshoe pitching and quoits were enjoyed by the former residents of the Ontario counties, who entered into the friendly spirit of the occasion and recalled scenes of long ago.

Rev. J. W. Churchill was the principal speaker at the sit-down supper served after the afternoon's activities. Mr. Churchill's topic was "What Are You Worth to Your Community?"

Mrs. Nellie McClung, a former resident of Grey County, gave a brief humorous address. A comic recitation was given by Mrs. Turner.

In charge of arrangements for the picnic was James Dinsmore, president of the society. He was assisted by Frank Schroeder, Angus Galbraith and W. A. Hendry.

MacMillan Leads Jubilee Music

Toronto Composer Conducts Great Open Air Orchestra in Stanley Park

Vancouver, Aug. 13.—A symphony orchestra played last night among the reaching pines of Stanley Park, sending its full-throated music up through the shadowed slopes where thousands gathered.

More than 15,000 persons raptly listened while the baton of Sir Ernest MacMillan brought out the changing themes of a concerto or the sombre passages of a fugue, dark as the massive shadows that curtained the stage.

Silence settled tensely over the massed audience, when the strong, sensitive fingers of Jan Cherniavsky brought the climatic pianoforte passages from the Schumann score and when, in the same movement the sharp voices of the violins soared in mounting chorus from the circular, bowl-shaped proscenium.

Sir Ernest had high words of commendation for the group of musicians who formed the orchestra he conducted. Trained by Allard de Ridder of Vancouver, they answered in perfect precision to the movements of his baton.

The Toronto musician who only recently conducted an orchestra in an open-air auditorium in Hollywood, was apprehensive, a few hours before the concert tonight, lest the music would lose effectiveness in the park bowl.

But those gathered there were agreed the music lost little of the exciting climaxes to which the conductor attached infinite importance in his several rehearsals with them.

Two of the scores tonight, "Toccato and Gugue" and "Concert Overture" were Sir Ernest's own adaptations

DIAMOND AMONG WEEDS

Pittsburgh, Aug. 13 (Canadian Press).—Mrs. Sara McDermott, fifty-one, thought a weed was a marigold plant and built a fence to protect it. A sparkling object beside the roots attracted her. It was a diamond she lost in 1933.

Hatley Park Fete Drew Visitors

W.I. Garden Party Yesterday Will Aid Solarium

Many visiting tourists from the United States and Canadian mainland took advantage of the opportunity offered by the Colwood Women's Institute garden party yesterday afternoon to wander through the lovely grounds of Hatley Park, kindly thrown open by Mrs. Dunsmuir in aid of the institute funds, and the affair was an outstanding success.

Mrs. H. Parker, vice-president, and Mrs. M. A. Hughes, secretary of the W.I., were general conveners and welcomed the visitors, among whom were a number of California women who evinced great interest in the work of the institutes.

Mrs. R. B. Murray was at the gate, assisted by Mrs. Lea of Calgary, formerly of Colwood, and Mrs. L. Slater and Miss Ethel Brown. The gate receipts will be devoted to the Queen Alexandra Solarium, and the proceeds from the tea, etc., to the institute's general fund for community betterment.

Pupils of Miss Florence Clough gave a charming programme of dance numbers on the croquet lawn, this adding to the delight of the guests and to the beauty of the scene in general.

Tea was served under the great trees on the lawn below the Italian garden. Mrs. H. Parker, Mrs. T. Spencer, Mrs. Godfrey, Mrs. E. Wishart, Mrs. E. Peatt and Mrs. J. J. Martin in charge. A stall of ice cream and candy was managed by Mrs. E. Shields, Mrs. C. Carnegie, Mrs. J. Goodall and Mrs. M. A. Hughes.

Mrs. Croghan read the teacups and Mrs. Godfrey sold tickets for the lamp.

Claims Child Film Star Is Her's

Custody Suit Over Edith Fellowes Who Made Film Here

Associated Press

Los Angeles, Aug. 13.—Testimony by Edith Fellows's mother that she once failed to recognize the thirteen-year-old actress on the screen today marked trial of her custody suit.

"When I saw little Edith in a picture several years ago I wondered if she might not be the Edith I had been searching for," the mother said. "I read in a magazine, however, that she was the daughter of Rockliff Fellows, so I was thrown off the track. Finally I learned she was my own."

The grandmother's attorneys announced they would try to show Edith's mother had deserted her and she owed the opportunity for a screen career to the grandmother.

Edith Fellows was in Victoria last year, starring in the film "Tugboat Princess," made here by Central Films Ltd.

Missioner Weds Nurse in Arctic

Ottawa, Aug. 13.—Details of an Arctic wedding at which a Guelph, Ont., nurse was married to an Anglican missionary came over the air yesterday to the radio branch of the Marine Department.

The wireless operator at Coppermine turned news reporter for a few minutes today and he made a good job of it.

Here is his report of the wedding: "White wedding celebrated quietly Monday evening last when Rev. J. Harold Webster, St. Andrew's Anglican missionary, Coppermine, united in marriage Anna Roszell, nurse of Guelph, Ontario, and Howard Rockaby Thomas, Anglican missionary of Cambridge Bay, N.W.T. Bridesmaid Miss Kipston, visitor from London, England; best man, Sergt. J. T. Makenson, R.C.M.P.; bride given away by Pilot Matt Berry, Canadian Airways. This first account of event sent out"

YOUR CHILDREN

by Olive Roberts Barton
© 1931 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

I do wish people would stop saying that butterflies make caterpillars that ruin things; that stars are only gobs of red-hot elements; that the moon may someday pull the tides over the mountains; that there is no such thing as beauty, only an arrangement of atoms.

However, this is to be no editorial on realism or a dissertation in philosophy. It concerns, of all things spinach.

NAGGED DURING MEALS

Spinach that used to be a delicacy, spinach and all the foods it stands for, have reached the ignominious level of vitamins and energy units.

Sometimes I wonder how certain children can eat at all, with "Now drink your milk and grow big;" "Just one more bite of egg if you want to be tall like Daddy;" "This rice pudding is full of calories, and calories make muscle."

Food has become realistic. It is translated into formulae of health and hygiene, right before the children, too. It has lost a lot of its good old yum-yum appeal.

I wonder how many youngsters this year have been coaxed to gulp down all sorts of sad messes by a touch on stomach and biceps, with mother saying, "It goes 'round and 'round and comes out here, in your arm muscles."

The children want to grow big, and they know food makes them strong, but they must get as tired of hearing these merry quips as we did when that old chestnut about burn crusts making curly hair was extant.

HUNGER IS SURE CURE

There are two ways of getting children to eat. One is to let them get hungry. The other is to fix things tastefully and palatably. Both are fairies when it comes to appetite.

How to make the child hungry is not such a problem. If he is well and exercising a lot, he'll eat. If he doesn't, and won't eat, either the viands have no attraction or he suddenly gets some constriction of appetite on account of a notion.

What this notion is, all depends. Maybe he's been talked to so much about the necessity of eating, it has had a contrary result and set up an obsession.

BLOOMS 100 YEARS

Lufkin, Texas (Canadian Press).—A real centennial rose bush blooms in the yard of Miss Mary Eliza Herrington of Huntington. The original bush was brought by Miss Herrington's grandmother from North Carolina. The family moved twice, but each time carried a piece of the bush to transplant.

Y.W.C.A. NOTES

The "Scout Tyee" may have been seen lying at anchor early Friday morning with many sleepy-eyed occupants on deck. The Portland Girl Reserves had wakened to find themselves face to face with the disapproving stare of the Provincial Parliament Buildings. They had been at sea for a week during which they enjoyed the beauties of the Princess Louise Pass, Howe Sound. Through the kindness of the "Y" girls' committee and friends they were driven about the city, and later entertained at the club rooms.

The annex lawn was the attractive site chosen for outdoor games and strange performances, unelligible to the passerby, all to the tune of clicking cameras. The girls are planning to give the fall fair frequenters a pictorial idea of Y-doings at the Y.W.C.A. booth next month.

Thursday was a red letter day in "Y" summer programme. Captain Beaumont picked the crowd up at the Yacht Club. A perfect day included two swims, excellent coffee, and many detours, thanks to the inexperienced antics of the "helmsmen." East Chatham and San Juan offered friendly anchorage, and the return by moonlight more than fulfilled expectations.

Tonight will find the girls enjoying a long anticipated visit to the local radio station CFCT. They meet at 7.30 at the "Y" and return to the club rooms for refreshments.

The summer edition of the girls' paper Y-Ways has been published recently and features holiday news. Club members are scattered far and wide seeking sunny shores with more temperate waters than our local beaches offer. Among those mentioned there are Susie Jones, Phil Newton, Margaret Lambie, Violet Mylrea, Neiney Olesen, Bessie Robertson, Phyllis Alexander, Winnie Elliott, Evelyn Harper, and Frances Wood.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

NINE-MONTHS-OLD BABY NOWADAYS EATS A VARIED DIET

"What do you give your baby to eat?" is one of the first questions young mothers ask each other. The prevalent practice these days being all in the direction of extremely varied diets, one is almost always astonished at the answers.

The ordinary healthy baby of nine months is quite often eating the type of a menu which an older mother would have felt an excellent one for her two-year-old. This average eighteen to nineteen pound, or over, husky gets not only thirty-two ounces of milk, in some form or another, but it is no stranger to various desserts, to cottage cheese, to eggs, to all kinds of cooked fruits, cooked cereals and cooked vegetables.

CHANGE OF DIET EACH DAY

The array of canned vegetables and fruits, as well as canned vegetable and liver soups, made just for infants, offers the most notionate child an opportunity to dine on different fare each day of the week, with hardly a repetition.

Beets, beans, peas, carrots, tomatoes, asparagus fill up the six days and the seventh may find him eating a vegetable soup made up of a combination of all six.

Fruits run the gamut from the daily orange or tomato or pineapple juice to cooked peaches, pears, prunes, apricots and apples.

ADD SALT AND SUGAR

Every one of these fruits or vegetables comes finely sieved and, usually, unflavored. To make them more appetizing to the baby the vegetables may need a little salt, perhaps a dot of butter and the fruits may appeal to baby's taste when a tiny bit of sugar is added to them. It is as well to try them first, just as they are, then make these additions if the baby shows an aversion to them.

The oldtime favorite starchy desserts, rice, farina, sago, and tapioca, made with milk and egg, as well as the usual junket and custard and gelatine have all found a place in the menu of the up-to-the-minute baby. It goes without saying that no new food is offered in large quantities, but a teaspoonful or so is offered as a means of making him acquainted with new foods and flavors.

Our leaflet, "Feeding from Two to Nine Months," will help the mother to know when to add new foods to the baby's diet. Send a self-addressed, three-cent stamped envelope to Myrtle Meyer Eldred, c/o "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper, for your copy.

Tomorrow: Don't be discouraged when your baby refuses a new food.

Thriving At Sunshine Camp

This happy group of youngsters have been enjoying a much-needed holiday at the Fred Landsberg Sunshine Camp at Saseenos. In the group is: Back row, Ernest Ball, David Simpson, George Harvey, Billie Muir, Stanley Hoffman, and Boy Archer; front row, Peggy Archer, Grace Harvey, Anne Taylor, Thelma Everston, Alice Hoffman, Milva Biddlecombe, and Katie Turner. The last party of mothers and children are now at camp, but another $700 is urgently needed to enable a group of teen-age boys and girls to be sent out for a holiday by the sea. Donations will be gratefully welcomed at the Empire Realty Co., and should be earmarked "Fred Landsberg Sunshine Camp Fund."

Below is seen a party of mothers at the camp, enjoying a respite from the difficult task of "making ends meet."

New Westminster Royals Lift Dominion Soccer Championship

THE SPORTS MIRROR

By PETE SALLAWAY

AFTER eight years of trying, Frank Shandley has finally managed a team into the Lower Island senior A men's softball championship. Tuesday evening at the Athletic Park Shandley saw his Silent Glows smash down the final barrier to the title when they smothered Brunsdon's Boys under an eleven-run barrage. The deciding game of the series, which went to seven games as a result of two ties, saw the Silent Glows perform like champions. They couldn't do a thing wrong, and as a result made their own breaks. The turning point in the battle was George Robertson's sparkling catch for a double play in the fourth. It pulled the Glows out of a bad hole and also broke the hearts of their opponents. They never looked dangerous after that.

One feature of the game that struck the writer forcibly was that four umpires officiated. Thirteen men on the diamond and four of them officials. That is hard to understand. A softball infield is much smaller than the regular baseball lay-out, and yet four "ump" are required. If two good officials are not capable of making the calls for a game of softball then they should retire to the grandstand. Major league baseball does not adopt the four-umpire system until the world series rolls along in the fall. And the four umpires on Tuesday could not get by without making a couple of questionable calls that drew down the ire of the teams and the spectators.

Frankie Kurtz, the "bad-penny" boy, who turns up in the most unexpected places, doing the most astonishing things, is in Berlin with the United States tower diving team

* * *

Frankie, who thinks he missed a second-place medal in Los Angeles because he didn't have the blonde hair of a Mickey Riley, is figured to place in the money by Marshall Wayne, Florida's United States tower champion. The Floridan, speaking over the air from Berlin on Tuesday, rated the Americans to finish one-two-three in the high tower, as they did in Los Angeles, and as they did in the springboard work at Berlin on Tuesday.

* * *

An engaging boy, with a gamin-esque grin and a wealth of outlandish slang that escapes being unintelligible, and seems to ring the gong, Kurtz is noted not only in the diving world, but in aviation circles. At one time he held the United States junior speed record for flying.

* * *

If there's one thing he can do, it's dive. With Farid Simaiki, the Egyptian, Kurtz put on the neatest double-diving exhibition staged at the Los Angeles Olympiads. He was, as far as is known, the first diver to specialize on a back two-and-one-half somersault from the tower. When you figure a diver executing that one is virtually blind all the way down from the clouds, you get an idea of his timing and courage.

* * *

He and Dick Degener, who won the springboard event for the United States on Tuesday, are the remaining pair of United States competitors from the Los Angeles meet. Al Green, who placed third in the springboard, was a spare on the team for the 1932 games. And spare was only good enough to be shoved around the pool as an usher and general boy down there.

Harold "Dutchy" Smith, tower winner at Los Angeles, shared a vicarious entry in the diving this year at Berlin. For the last few seasons he has been trying to bring the Germans along to a point where they could compete successfully against the United States.

B.C. Champions Blank Winnipeg In Final Clash

Score 3 to 0 Victory Over Winnipeg Westons; Manitobans Badly Outclassed

GOALIE STARS FOR INVADERS

Vancouver, Aug. 13.—The Dominion Football Association championship trophy was safely tucked away, for the fourth time, in the club office of New Westminster Royals, while a disappointed eleven from Winnipeg, United Westons, prepared to leave for home.

A 3 to 0 decision over the Manitobans yesterday evening gave the fast-stepping British Columbia team a 2 to 1 edge in the three-game series, first Dominion soccer final ever played in Vancouver.

It was a heart-breaking loss for Westons, who had previously lost 6 to 1 in Saturday's series opener, then came back Monday night to edge out Royals 2 to 1.

ARE OUTCLASSED

Apparently minus the fighting edge that carried them to their lone victory, the Manitobans were outclassed by the shifty Coast eleven, who kept the play in prairie territory practically the entire ninety minutes.

But for the remarkable performance of Weston's acrobatic goalie, Johnny Reid, the score would have been considerably higher in Royals' favor. Time after time the lanky Reid dived headlong to turn drives around the corner post, or leaped into the air to tip them over the crossbar.

As it was, the three counters that did get by him were scored on unexpected plays and each one found him out of position.

Carrying the play into the Winnipeg zone from the opening whistle, Royals notched their first counter after twenty minutes of play. The goal came from a scramble in front of the Winnipeg net.

J. Gemmell headed a cleared ball back toward the goal, Johnny McKay headed it again and Dave Turner raced in just as the sphere touched the field and drove it through a maze of players into an open side of the net.

Ten minutes later McKay helped himself to another counter for the Coast eleven, scoring on a similar play as the ball was headed back and forth in front of the Weston goal by players of both teams.

STRONG DEFENCE

The second half was a repetition of the first with the exception of a half-dozen Manitoba sorties into Coast territory, but each failed of scoring as the Westminster backs boxed the Weston attackers so effectively they seldom had a clear goal to shoot at.

Royals wound up the night's scoring fifteen minutes after the second half opened, with Jack Coulter notching the counter. Dave Turner started the play, snapping a short, close-in drive that Reid stopped but failed to hold, and Coulter dashed in to nod the ball into the net as it bounced off the goalie's hands.

Weston—J. Reid, goal; M. Pilous, right back; J. Playfoot, left back; A. Bruce, right half-back; B. Urquhart, centre half; M. Hershfield, left half; C. Dickens, outside right; A. Hodgert, inside right; Cy Johnston, centre forward; E. Hodgert, inside left; H. Brooks, outside left.

Vancouver Cricket Team Wins on Tour

Vernon, Aug. 13.—The touring Vancouver cricketers today prepared for the second game of their series here with three straight wins in their Okanagan tour safely tucked away.

The tourists defeated the Canadian Legion eleven here yesterday, Vancouver rolled up 66 all out in the first inning, while the locals counted 57 all out. A time limit of one hour was set for the second innings and the coast players run up 108 for only three wickets with the Legion 54 for ten.

They had previously beaten Penticton and Kelowna elevens on Monday and Tuesday.

BRUINS TAKE BALL HONORS

Defeat Esquimalt Meat Market to Annex Lower Island B Softball Title

In the deciding game of the Lower Island B softball playdowns Painter's Bruins pushed over one marker in the second inning yesterday evening at Bullen Park to nose out the Esquimalt Meat Market 1 to 0 and win the division championship.

The game was a pitching duel, with Harold Turner, fuelmen's mound ace, getting the better of Beech, young hurler for the Market boys. Bruins checked off five safeties on Beach, one more than the boys from the dockyard got from Turner.

A hot single in the second frame by Norm Stewardson brought Stewart home and won the game for the Bruins.

The fuelmen will stack up against the Silent Glows, recently crowned Lower Island A ball kings, tonight at the Athletic Park. It will be the initial fixture of a two-out-of-three series and will begin at 6.15 o'clock

Painter's Bruins	010000000	1	5	4

Colbert's Grocery and the Victoria Longshoremen battled to a 7 to 7 tie in a Peden Cup semi-final at Victoria West park yesterday evening. The game was called at the end of the ninth on account of darkness.

Colbert's Grocery	120011101	7

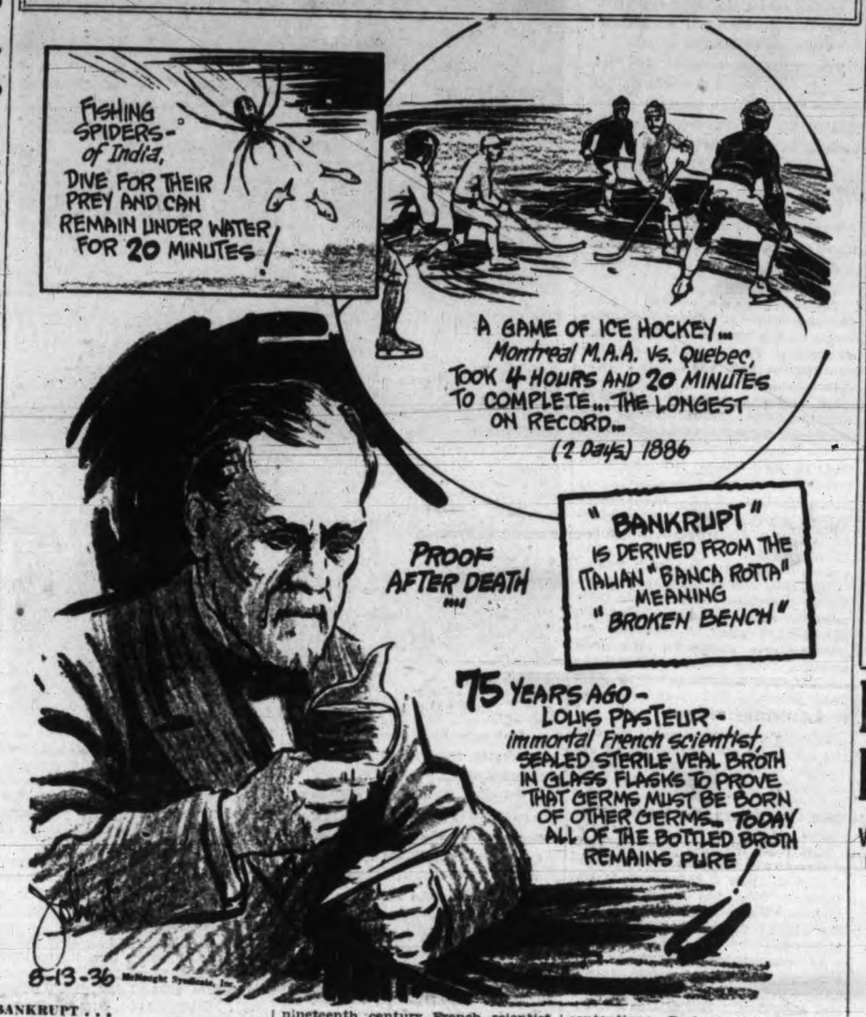
STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

—By John Hix



BANKRUPT . . .

When a merchant failed to meet financial obligations due one of his fellows, it was customary for the rest of the merchants to band together, break the defaulting man's display bench into pieces and drive him out of the market to show the public he was unable to meet his debts.

It was through this odd custom that our modern word, "bankrupt," was derived, as the Italian for "broken bench" is "banca rotta."

POST MORTEM EXPERIMENT

Until Louis Pasteur, immortal nineteenth century French scientist, astounded the world by his experiments with vaccines, fermentation, and general micro-organism research, little was known about the properties of bacteria. No one knew what caused milk to sour, wine and beer to ferment, and other foods to putrify.

It was only after years of painstaking experimentation and research that Pasteur finally proved to the satisfaction of his fellow scientists that these reactions were due to bacteria, the same kind of animal life that he had already proved were the cause of many diseases.

Even after he had converted the scientific world to the belief of his contentions, Pasteur still found it difficult to prove the fact that germs do not simply come to life out of the components of air or of decaying matter, but are always born from other germs.

Strange as it seems, his experiment proving this still goes on more than forty years after his death! Over seventy-five years ago he hermetically sealed a number of flasks containing sterile veal broth and turned them over to the Pasteur Institute in Paris. To this day, the broth remains perfectly pure and free of germs.

Tomorrow: The "Shovetail" Colonel."

Wrestlers Both Take Final Count

Chicago, Aug. 13.—Keepers of the heavyweight wrestling archives debated today whether the records of Ivan Rasputin and Hans Schnabel should show a mutual defeat or a double victory.

CANADIANS IN CRICKET LOSS

Hon. R. C. Matthews' Touring Eleven Drops First Match in England

London, Aug. 13.—Their thirteenth game in England proved an unlucky one for Hon. R. C. Matthews's Canadian cricketers. After maintaining an unbeaten record since they arrived in England early in July, the Dominion's representatives were defeated by Grasshoppers, a strong amateur club, by 57 runs at the Oval yesterday. The English team mustered 203 runs, to which the Canadians replied with 146.

While their colors were lowered the Canadians put up a good battle against an eleven that included D. R. Jardine, former English captain; J. C. Christopherson, Kent, and several other prominent cricketers. With two matches remaining before they return to Canada, the tourists have won seven, lost one and drawn five.

PERCIVAL STARS

Yesterday's game was marked by a fine bowling feat by Lloyd Percival of the Toronto Rosedale Club, who is noted more for his batting and fielding than bowling. Sending down slow spinners, Percival captured six of the English team's wickets for 39 runs. Ted Carlton and "Derby" Loney, usually very effective on the attack, were not successful yesterday.

The Canadians left nothing to be desired in the matter of fielding. The only extras allowed were six leg byes, and Jardine, who made 30 runs, was dismissed through a wonderful catch by Loney, fielding in the slips.

Christopherson led Grasshoppers' batsmen with 36, and M. H. Bell contributed Jardine's score. Bowling honors went to B. B. Waddy, who dismissed six Canadians for 31 runs.

Clarke Bell, Toronto, and Walter Scott, Vancouver, opened their shoulders to the home team's attack after several wickets had gone down with only a few runs obtained. Each player scored 30. The former obtained twenty-four of his runs with six hits to the boundary.

One of these days, Bump Hadley is going to lose his horseshoe. Then he won't be the league's leading pitcher any more.

Bump doesn't carry the horseshoe around with him. But that doesn't stop him from being the luckiest thrower on the New York Yankee's mound staff, if not in the whole American League.

Bump has started nearly as many games any other regular Yankee elbower, and has lasted the fewest complete games.

Still, he leads the league with eleven victories against one lone setback, and all of his wins have been in a row. He hasn't been charged with a defeat since April 20.

Hadley has the uncanny knack of getting himself in hot water in almost every inning he pitches, only to have his fine-fielding mates pull him out by the skin of his teeth.

Not only that, but on four occasions this season, he started games, only to have his opponents blast him into the showers early, and then have his mates come from behind to save his record.

SMART FIELDING

The luck still held yesterday, when he chalked up his eleventh straight by downing the Washington. The Senators got men as far as first and second, with but one out, only to have the Yankee infield pull fast double plays and save the day.

Another time, a runner reached second with none out, when a peg from catcher Joe Glenn cut second base and caught him napping. On one occasion, Hadley walked the first two men on nine pitched balls, and things would have gone bad if a twin-killing didn't pop up at the moment.

Another lucky pitcher yesterday was Si Johnson, newcomer to the St. Louis Cardinals. In his first start for the gas house gang he defeated the Chicago Cubs 5 to 3, although touched for fourteen hits. His luck was packed in the bats of Johnny Mize and Ducky Medwick, who poled out homers to pull the Cards back into the National League lead.

The New York Giants picked up ground on the leaders by nosing out the Brooklyn Dodgers 2 to 1 in twelve innings, Gabby Gabler tripling in both runs to defeat Van Mungo.

The Yanks' American League lead was boosted to eleven and one-half games as the Detroit Tigers trounced the second-place Cleveland Indians 7 and 4, despite Hal Trosky's thirty-fourth homer. Vernon Kennedy posted his sixteenth pitching victory as he hurled the Chicago White Sox to an 8 to 3 win over the St. Louis Browns.

The Boston Red Sox and Philadelphia Athletics split a doubleheader, the Sox taking the first one and the A's capturing the nightcap 6 to 0.

The Phillies' lost their tenth straight as the Boston Bees shoved over two runs in the ninth for a 4 to 2 win. Bill Swift allowed six hits in pitching the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 6 to 1 conquest of the Cincinnati Reds.

COAST LEAGUE

The Coast League's pell-mell race was tighter than ever today after Tuesday's losers ducked winners, in the bitter cup of defeat in Wednesday ball.

San Diego, Oakland and the San Francisco Missions were back in a three-way tie for third. Portland and Seattle, by losing dropped to three and a half games and two games ahead of the third-place holders to make it mathematically possible for anyone of four teams to usurp the league leadership from Portland this week.

Big Walter Beck, pitching in 1935 form, handed San Diego its sixth loss since late in July in a 5 to 1 encounter.

Sacramento manhandled Kewpie Dick Barrett as Seattle took a 10 to 5 lacing.

Ken Douglas limited the Beavers to five blows as the Oaks won, 6 to 1.

Young Dario Lodigiani had a perfect night against Portland pitching, hitting three for three.

MARQUART IS LONE SURVIVOR

Winnipeg Featherweight Only Canadian to Advance in Olympic Boxing

Canadian Press

Berlin, Aug. 13.—Billy Marquart, Winnipeg, remained the only Canadian in the Olympic boxing competition today.

The western featherweight, who has held the Canadian title since 1935, won his first-round match yesterday on points over Jelen, Czechoslovakia, and took the honor of being the only Canadian to score a victory in the eleventh Olympiad.

The little fellows—they weigh in under 126 pounds—fought two slow rounds. Then the Czech picked up pep and forced the action, but the Canadian effectively smothered his attack and wore down his opponent to get the unanimous call.

Marquart continues in the featherweight tournament today, carrying the Maple Leaf where six others were stopped, three in the ring and three others without lifting a glove.

Maurice Camryee, Winnipeg, was beaten in his first-round bout with Chester Rutecki, United States, by decision; Herve Lacelles, Ottawa, lost to Frank Orziz, Mexico, in a bout so close observers felt the decision might have gone either way, and Oliver Shanks, Edmonton, dropped a decision to Joseph Keivunen, Finland, on Tuesday

Irvine Pease, Toronto, and Mickey Hennessey, Montreal, could not make their weights on the official scales and heavyweight George Bird, St. Catherines, Ont., suffered a chipped jaw in the trials at Montreal. It had not cleared up in time for him to fight here.

LEWIS WHIPS FORMER CHAMP

Light-heavyweight Monarch Hands George Nichols Ten-round Beating

St. Louis, Aug. 13. — John Henry Lewis, Phoenix, negro light heavyweight champion of the world, won a ten-round decision here yesterday evening over Georgie Nichols, Buffalo, former wearer of the crown, in a non-title event witnessed by 10,000 spectators. Both fighters weighed in at 177 pounds.

Nichols hung a crushing left on Lewis in the fifth and almost sent him to the floor, but the negro pounded up point margins in all other rounds and had Georgie hanging on groggily in the eighth and ninth.

It took the champ three rounds to solve Nichols's left-handed offensive. Then he started a constant barrage of stinging lefts of his own.

Nichols clinched desperately all through the last five rounds, grabbing out at Lewis with his right and frequently winding up on the negro's back.

Miss Senff Is 100-metre Champ

Canadian Press

Berlin, Aug. 13.—Dina Senff, Holland, captured the women's Olympic 100-metre backstroke swimming championship today after Dorothy Poynton Hill, United States, successfully defended her diving title.

In the men's division, Gerald Clawson, Toronto exponent of the butterfly stroke, swept through the preliminaries of the 200-metre breaststroke event by placing second to one of the famous Spence brothers, Bermuda, while Bob Pirie, also of Toronto, gained the semi-finals of the 1,500-metre freestyle with a fourth place in the trials.

Clawson winged through his test in 2 minutes 54.7 seconds 2.7 seconds back of the winning Spence. Earlier Bill Puddy, Toronto, was eliminated from this event by winding up sixth in his heat.

The nineteen-year-old Pirie turned in a 10.16.4 performance to stay in the running for the title in the longer grind.

CLOSE FINISH

The final of the women's 100-metre backstroke produced one of the tightest finishes of the aquatic sports. Miss Senff and her teammate, Rita Mastenbroek, along with the next two finishers appeared to hit the end of the tank almost together, but the judges placed Miss Senff first in 1.18.9.

For the second day in succession, Adolf Kiefer, Chicago, bettered the Olympic and listed world records for the 100-metre backstroke. Swimming the first semi-final, the American was clocked in 1.06.8, 1-10th of a second faster than the time he made in yesterday's trials. The listed world mark is 1.07.4.

Kiefer led all the way and won by a metre over Al Vande Weghe, also of the United States, with Oliver, Australia, third.

Gordie Kerr, Windsor, passed from the backstroke picture in the second semi-final. He finished fifth in an eight-man field led by Taylor Drysdale, United States, in 1.08.6. The next two places were taken by fleet sons of Nippon, Shoji Kyokawa and Yasuhiko Kojima.

HOOPER ELIMINATED

Bobby Hooper, Vancouver, was eliminated in the second heat of the 1,500, which produced a dead heat between Jack Medica, America's surprise winner of the 400-metre title, and Noburo Terada, Japan. The pair threshed the entire distance shoulder to shoulder, about 100 metres ahead of the field, and hit the finish line together in 19.55.5.

Jorgensen, Denmark, was third in 21.42.0, and the husky Hooper next, in 21.47.4.

Thelma Boughner, Toronto, and Lynda Adams, Vancouver, had neither the experience nor the form to threaten in the platform diving, just as yesterday when they made futile bids in the springboard class. The Pacific Coast miss finished nineteenth, with 26.52 points, while her countrywoman of the east was twenty-second and last with 24.30.

Mrs. Hill, who as Dorothy Poynton, led an American sweep in this competition at Los Angeles in 1932, scored 33.93 points in the four set dives which comprised the programme. Velma Dunn, another Californian, was a close runnerup with 33.63 points.

GERMAN GIRL THIRD

America's monopoly on all the diving medals in the current games was broken, however, by Kathe Kohler, Germany, who finished third with 33.43 points. Cornelia Gilisen, New York, finished fifth behind Reko Osawa, Japan.

Mrs. Hill's triumph offered a little excitement to the crowd of 5,000 who sweltered under a hot sun. It was apparent from the outset the Los Angeles "Miss Neptune" would take top honors, unless she fell off the platform.

As competition opened in the women's 400-metre freestyle, it was announced Canada's three entrants had scratched. Marjorie Stone, Toronto, and Phyllis Dewar, Vancouver, withdrew because they were not feeling up to the mark. Mrs. Irene Pirie Milton scratched to save herself for a later event.

Ragnhild Hveger, fifteen-year-old Danish water-nymph, captured the first of five 400 heats in 5 minutes 25 seconds and lopped 5-10th of a second from the Olympic standard. Rita Mastenbroek, Holland, took her trial easily in 5.38.6.

Bob Hamerton, Manitoba "clipper," was knocked out of the 1,500-metre freestyle when trials were resumed in the afternoon. The Winnipeg youth was fifth in a heat taken by Shumpei Uto, Japanese favorite, in 19.48.3. The trial was strictly a duel between Uto and Ralph Flanagan, United States, who pulled into second place 1.6 seconds behind the Nipponese.

Extend Date For Tennis Entries

Closing date for entries in the city hard court tennis tournament, scheduled to start Saturday on the Civil Service courts, was extended from this evening until tomorrow evening by officials in charge of the event.

CAGE RULES ARE ADOPTED

International Federation Decides to Eliminate Centre Tip-off

Berlin, Aug. 13.—New basketball rules, including elimination of the centre tip, were approved by the International Basketball Federation tonight.

The federation adopted the "ten-second" rule, which prevents stalling. Under the rule, the team in possession of the ball is allowed only ten seconds to move the ball across the centre line towards its opponent's basket.

Other new provisions included one providing two officials for each game instead of one, and the displacement of the present basket by one without under-braces.

The federation also decided to place feminine basketball under the supervision of the men's international organization. Previously, it was supervised by the Feminine Sports Federation Internationale.

Dr. James A. Naismith, native of Almonte, Ont., who founded the game, was named honorary chairman of the federation, while Louis Bouffard of Switzerland was re-elected president.

SAYS FAREWELL TO FAMOUS STALLION

William Mackenzie, old-time horsebreeder and well-known character on the racecourses and at the show rings, said a last farewell to Tuscan, famous thoroughbred stallion who had been "his pal" for the last three decades.

Standing beside the horse's grave, which he had heaped with flowers, and holding in his hand the championship bridal, the old man remembered the high-spirited stallion for whom he had lost an eye and suffered a broken leg.

"It wasn't his fault," Mackenzie said. He lost his eye when he went to gather some red clover for the horse. A gorse branch stuck into it. His leg was broken when the horse kicked the stable door in which it was caught.

ONE OF GREATEST

Tuscan was one of the greatest stallions ever developed in the Pacific Northwest. He won scores of races, including such events as the Chinook Derby, the Provincial Stakes and the Alberta Stakes. Once in Calgary he won two races in one day.

Not only did Tuscan shine on the tracks but he was also a great show horse. He was the only horse to take the Hunters' Association Medal, London, England, twice in succession. The award is given for the thoroughbred which in the opinion of the judges is most suited for producing hunters. He also swept the board as a stud horse for polo ponies.

Tuscan was sired by Tusculum, son of the imported Benstone, son of the great Bendor. His dam was Scotch Rose by the imported Midlothian out of the imported Scotch Fir.

The stallion sired among other well-known horses, Jim Rogan, Killarney Belle, Royal Irish, Tusculotta, Tuscodore (record holder at Puyallup), Mickey Hagan, Symbol, Britannica (champion at Madison Square Gardens).

Tuscan was thirty years and six months old when he died and he was honored as no other horse has been honored, for they allowed Mr. Mackenzie to bury him between the new stables where he had spent most of his life.

Tuscan would go into a jig whenever he saw his master, but like most highly-strung thoroughbred stallions he was hardly a "pet" in the generally accepted sense of the word. But he was a pal to Mr. Mackenzie, who was fifty when he bred him and eighty-one when he buried him.

MRS. G. WARREN WINS BUTTON

Catches Twenty-pounder at Brentwood; Bob Davis Lands Two

Bob Davies of the New York Sun and Mrs. Davis, Miss Margaret Goodman, Teulon, Manitoba, and Mr. and Mrs. George I Warren, Victoria, while fishing at Brentwood yesterday in Bob Stacy's boat, landed five salmon between them, including a fine twenty-pound spring hooked by Mrs. Warren.

The party fished from 3.30 o'clock until 6.30 o'clock in the evening, and during that time eleven fish struck on their lines. The other salmon were caught by Bob Davis, who landed two, fourteen and twelve pounds, and Miss Goodman, who hauled in a fourteen and a six-pounder. Miss Goodman had her catch put into cold storage and shipped home.

Mrs. Warren's twenty-pounder, which was on exhibition in front of Roger Monteith's store this morning, entitles her to a bronz button presented by the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association, of which she is a member.

At the conclusion of the day's fishing trip Mr. Davis, who is the most widely travelled newspaperman in the world, said it was certainly a remarkable thing that a body of water like Saanich Inlet should be preserved for sport alone. Mr. Davis said he intended to have another go at the inlet again on a return trip in an endeavor to hook one of the big fellows and get the button which goes with it.

Many thousands of fish fry stranded on the upper reaches of Demanuel Creek, a tributary of the Sooke River, were rescued yesterday and returned to running water by game warden Bruce Cash, assisted by Red Shemilt and J. Pearse.

The fry were slowly dying off from lack of fresh water. The action was in accordance with fish preservation work being carried on in the district.

B. C. Marksmen In Fine Stand

Put on Fine Scores in D.R.A. Meet at Ottawa; Sgt. J. Kier, Vancouver, Scores 99 in Macdonald Brier Competition

South March, Ont., Aug. 13. — Undisturbed by blistering sunrays, Lieut. H. W. Steeves, a sharpshooter of Moncton, N.S., outshot Canada's best to win the Life Members' Match here yesterday at the annual meeting of the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association.

Most marksmen were irked by the heat penetrating their shooting-jackets, but the Maritime rifleman's aim did not waver from the bull's-eye as he popped on ten shots at 1,000 yards, the toughest range, and stood alone with a possible 50.

Capt. A. B. Coulter, Ottawa, and Lieut. P. Hooper, Charlottetown, finished in a tie for second place, carding 49, one short of possible.

Rifleman W. Ewing, twenty-one-year-old Montreal marksman, won his second match of the meet. Easily he spanked ten rounds into the black at 300 yards and repeated at 600 for a possible century, in the Macdonald Brier. He was awarded $100 and a silver medal.

Victoria Rifles of Montreal team of four were easy winners of the Macdonald Brier Match, compiling 385 points. Esquimalt Garrison Rifle Association was fourth with 381.

In the Macdonald Brier Match ten shots at 300 and 600 yards, British Columbia marksmen shot well enough to collect the biggest share of the money. High man on the British Columbia squad was Sergt. J. Kier, Vancouver, scoring 99. Lieut. Colville was right behind with a 98.

Other scores were: Cpl. Gibault, 98; Lieut. G. A. Molecy, 97; Cpl. Sanderson, 98; Fusilier I. M. Grant,; 96 Sergt. Evans, 96; Cpl. J. Jones, 96; Sergt. T. Willoughby, 96; Gnr. Rasmussen, 95; Cpl. Robbins, 95; Sergt.-Major Wood, 95, and Cpl. J. Gordon, 93.

Showing a real display of rangecraft and good judgment in the Life Members' Match, ten shots at 1,000 yards, Sergt.-Major Wood, Victoria, hit the bull's-eye eight times and scored two inners for a total of 48.

Other scores: Sergt. J. Kier, 47; Sergt. T. Willoughby, 47; Cpl. Sanderson, 47; Cpl. Gibault, 47; Lieut.-Colville, 46; Cpl. Young, 45; Fusilier I. Grant, 44; Lieut. G. Molecy, 43; Q.M.S. Evans, 42; Cpl. Taylor, 42; P.O. Betts, 42, and Sergt. Farquharson, 42.

At the present time it looks as if British Columbia will have several men on next year's Bisley team. The biggest event in Canadian rifle shooting, the Governor-General's Match, the first stage of which was fired today, brings to the firing mound over 500 of Canada's crack shots.

New York—Gustav Eder, 146½, Germany, knocked out Jimmy Leto, 144, Hartford, Conn., (nine); Cleto Locatelli, 142¾, Italy, outpointed Fritzie Zivic, 146½, Pittsburgh, (ten).

BAYS SCORE CRICKET WIN

Defeat Victoria to Register Initial Victory in Berger Cup Play

Their first triumph of the season in the Berger Cup play came to the Hudson's Bay cricket eleven yesterday afternoon at Beacon Hill Park when they defeated Victoria 163 to 117.

Within an hour the Bays had chalked up 100 runs with the fall of but three wickets. After the score reached 127, the remaining wickets fell quickly. Frank Tyrrell batted up 47 runs during a fine hitting exhibition, his individual score including nine fours.

In the second over Victoria lost Appleton, but Ellis played a fine inning of 60 with seven boundary fours. Appleton and Jeanneret for Victoria and N. Tyrrell and Baker for Hudson's Bay had the best trundling analysis.

FOREST FIRE NEAR KAPOOR

Blaze Which Broke Out Yesterday Controlled; No Property Damaged

Fire which broke out yesterday afternoon four miles from the Kapoor Lumber Company settlement in the Sooke Hills, was safely controlled today by crews from the lumber mill and fire'fighters employed by the forestry department.

After burning over an extensive area of slash timber, the flames were halted as the wind fell, before they had threatened any buildings in the district.

The illuminated sky and clouds of smoke yesterday evening attracted the attention of hundreds of Victorians, and for a time it was feared here the blaze had reached such proportions that it threatened the countryside.

Hart And Dempsey Reach Golf Final

Victoria's Defending Champion and Tacoma Veteran Will Battle Tomorrow at Colwood For Seniors' Title; Hart Defeats P. W. Blanchard, Portland, 1 Up

Hon. John Hart will clash with J. J. Dempsey, Tacoma, in tomorrow's final over eighteen holes for the grand championship of the Pacific Northwest Seniors' Golf Association tournament at the Colwood Club. In today's semi-finals Hart came through with a 1-up victory over Percy W. Blanchard, Portland, while Dempsey advanced by eliminating Jack Ballinger, Seattle, 2 and 1.

In the Hart-Blanchard match the former was 2 up at the turn. The tenth was halved, as were the next two holes. Hart hooked his second on the thirteenth and went over par to lose the hole, but retrieved himself at the next when he dropped in a thirty-foot putt for a half in birdie 4's. His second was in a bunker but he came out on the green in three and sank a long putt. Blanchard was dead to the pin for his four.

WINNING PUTT

Hart went 2 up again on the short fifteenth with a par three but lost the next two holes and then won the match on the final green by sinking an eight-foot putt.

In the Dempsey-Ballinger match, the Tacoma man reached the turn 1 up. The tenth was halved, and Dempsey increased his lead to 2 up by wining the eleventh. He lost the twelfth, and came back again to win the thirteenth. They halved the seventeenth to end the match. Dempsey had three spectacular holes. On the sixth he chipped from ten feet off the green to hole out in four; on the seventh he holed a putt from the edge of the green for a two, and on the eighth holed out in three.

DEER SEASON IS SHORTER

Hunting to Open September 12 and Close November 30 This Year

Shorter hunting seasons on deer, quail, pheasants and grouse will go into effect on Vancouver Island this year and in parts of the western district of the province, and the seasons and bag limits on ducks and geese will be drastically reduced by federal order.

These were the major effects of two sets of game regulations made public here today, one by the province and one by the federal authorities.

It provides for a reduction from twelve to ten weeks in the deer season, because hunting has formerly gone into the breeding season. Open season for mule and coast deer, bucks only, will be from September 12 to November 30 this year. Last year it extended to December 15.

Moose, north of the 51st parallel, September 1 to December 15.

Mountain goat (except Vancouver Island, September 12 to November 30 (a reduction of two weeks).

Bear, September 12 to June 30.

On Vancouver Island the pheasant season will open October 17 and close November 15, one week shorter than last year. In other parts of the western district the season is about the same, but the bag limits all over the district have been cut from four per day and twenty-five for the season to three and twenty.

GROUSE

The blue grouse season has been reduced two weeks, now extending from September 12 to October 15 on Vancouver Island and from September 5 to October 15 elsewhere in the district.

Ruffed grouse are unchanged from October 17 to 31.

The quail season is reduced one week, now extending from October 17 to November 15.

Ptarmigan (Prince Rupert district), September 5 to October 15.

European partridge, October 17 to November 1 on the island.

Bag limits for big game and birds are: Deer, 3 bucks; pheasants, daily 3, season 20; European partridge, daily 6, season 25; grouse, daily 6, season 25; ptarmigan, daily 6, season 25; quail, daily 10, season 50.

On migratory birds, the new federal regulations reduce the bag limits on ducks from 20 to 12, geese from 10 to 5, reduce the seasons from three and a half to two months, eliminate the use of live decoys, prohibit the feeding of ducks for purpose of decoying them into blinds and curtail night flight shooting on the mainland.

The seasons in the western district are: Ducks, geese and coots, October 17 to December 15; black brant, November 15 to January 15; Wilson snipe, October 17 to January 31; bantail pigeon, September 12 to September 30.

Bag limits are: Ducks, daily 12, season 125; geese, including brant, daily 5, season 50; snipe, daily 25, season 50; pigeon, daily 10, season 50.

Central Films Now Looks To Expansion

With Studio at Willows Assured, Company Will Go After Business; Will Start Seventh Picture in Month's Time

With the position of Central Films Limited in the Willows Industrial Building studio now assured, following yesterday's meeting of the British Columbia Agricultural Association, Victoria can look for a considerable expansion of the business, Kenneth J. Bishop, president of the movie company, said today.

"Now that I definitely know I have a place here I am going out after business," he said this morning.

Mr. Bishop hopes to get other contracts apart from that which he has at present with Columbia Pictures Incorporated, for whom he has produced six pictures for distribution under the British quota regulations in the last year.

The six pictures have been made in pairs, usually with a period of a month or more between each pair. Mr. Bishop plans to fill in these empty periods with minor productions so as to keep the studio and the locally-recruited crews continually in operation.

NEW PICTURE SOON

A seventh picture, based on a racing story, entitled "Gimpy," will be started in about a month from the present time.

Mr. Bishop's eventual object is to have two or more units working on separate pictures, possibly for quota distribution by different Hollywood companies, at the same time.

At present the work of removing stalls in the Industrial Building has been started, and Central Films' crews were busy this morning clearing out the Automobile Building, which is to be reconditioned to house the exhibits, and which has been used in the past as a storehouse by the movie company.

The space behind the soundproof inner walls in the Industrial Building, formerly occupied by the stalls, will be used for storage temporarily, but the inner walls will be moved back to the full width of the building before production of "Gimpy" starts.

Meanwhile Central Films is awaiting word from Gaumont-British as to when they will arrive in Victoria to use the studio for interiors of their epic, "The Great Barrier." It is understood the company will be here shortly for a week's work, and will use four sets for the scenes.

Mr. Bishop yesterday received word in an indirect manner of the success of Central Films' first production made at the Willows in the fall of last year, and known here as "Stop, Look and Love."

An English movie magazine last month devoted half of its issue to this picture, which stars David Manners and Maxine Doyle, and which has been retitled "Lucky Fugitives." The paper describes it as "a first-rate comedy thriller," and gives scenes from the picture as illustrations. The scenes feature several local actors, among them Reginald Hincks, Arthur Legge-Willis, Doreen Wilson and James McGrath.

COUNCIL MAY MEET MONDAY

City Solicitor's Timber Deal Opinion May Govern Calling of Special Session

The City Council may hold an extraordinary meeting on Monday evening to go further into the timber deal issue, left indefinite at the last session of the city body.

By Monday H. S. Pringle, city solicitor, to whom the council appealed for a final opinion on the legality of the Sooke Lake watershed contract with D. P. Garrison, will be back from his vacation.

The council has left to Mr. Pringle the final word over the legality of the deal, which has been defended and attacked by half a dozen solicitors.

Should he inform the council the contract is in order, logging operations will go ahead at Sooke. Should he take the contrary stand he will be requested to draft the necessary documents seeking enabling legislation from the provincial government, at the fall session, to validate the agreement.

Busses and lorries are providing keen competition for trains in the British Isles, according to Dr. A. J. Weir of Edinburgh, who is at the Douglas Hotel. Beside the North Road had sprung up a series of rest-houses for the drivers of the long string of trucks which poured along the highway every night.

Second-class compartments had been removed from trains and three times as many third-class coaches were on the rails as first class. Third-class sleeping accommodation was provided on some of the best passenger expresses.

Bill Boyd At The Columbia

Cowboy, sailor, soldier, railroad engineer, aviator, policeman, fireman, stunt man—and all this variety of occupations only leads up to Bill Boyd's latest screen career: that of a federal agent on the trail of international spies. He is to be seen in "Federal Agent," now at the Columbia Theatre.

He lends credibility and sympathy to the idea of justice triumphant, and when the script calls for a love scene, Bill Boyd makes love in a way that makes it reasonable to suppose that a girl might fall for him.

NEW ACTORS ON THE SHOW BOAT

Ernie Impett Has Been Engaged and Will Be Presented Tomorrow Night

The Royal English Show Boat Pierrots, will open again tomorrow night with a gala performance, according to T. H. Eslick, general secretary of the Tourist Trade Association.

Ernie Impett, comedian, will lead an augmented company in a popular performance.

Mr. Eslick has taken over the management of weekly productions for the series assisted by Ernie Impett for comedy, Frank Tupman for chorus work, Harold Cotton for special lighting and scenic effects, Mrs. Florence Eslick for costumes, Frank Bickford for front of house management, and Jack Thornburn for stage properties.

Tomorrow night's programme will include a big comedy interlude based on the popular song, "Frankie and Johnnie."

Another big feature of the programme will be the Parade of the Wooden Soldiers, danced by the Show Boat's original baby sextette, led by Betti,—the Royal English Pierrots dance virtuoso.

The musical numbers will be under the direction of Frank Tupman.

This first show of the new series will start promptly at 8 o'clock.

GENE RAYMOND AT THE ATLAS

Gene Raymond conducts a three-thousand-mile race for happiness in ten days to convince Wendy Barrie, a penniless debutante, that marrying a pauper with a sense of humor is more profitable than marrying a million-dollar stuffed shirt in the spirited adventure romance "Love on a Bet," now being shown at the Atlas Theatre.

The second feature, "Chatterbox," takes the young Anne Shirley to new heights in screendom. The story is of a young stage-struck girl.

CAPITOL THEATRE

The character he likes best, that of a lovable old faker who glories in bamboozling the public but who paves the way for the romance of a young couple, is given W. C. Fields in his film, "Poppy," now showing at the Capitol Theatre. It is the part he played in his first stage success, years ago.

Fields appears as a patent-medicine man and tent show follower who is the guardian of an eighteen-year-old girl, Rochelle Hudson.

"THE INFORMER" AT OAK BAY

Bringing one of the most dramatic characters of fiction to the screen with amazing realism, R.K.O.'s picture "The Informer" comes to the Oak Bay Theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday. An artistic triumph, with Victor McLaglen in the principal role, "The Informer" stands far above the ordinary run of film features. As screen entertainment it pulses with strength in its every situation and action. The plot is laid against a background of the turmoil in Ireland just after the Great War. It is simply stark drama that deals with the thrilling adventure of a big, hulking primitive-minded renegade in the revolutionary forces. Victor McLaglen, as Gypo Nolan, commits the unforgivable treachery of selling his friends into the hands of the enemy. Every review of screen productions during the past year places "The Informer" as one of the outstanding pictures among recent productions.

Joe E. Brown To Star Here

Millions have read of the hilarious exploits of Alexander Botts, the whimsical and egotistical tractor salesman and comedy hero of the famous series of stories, "Earthworm Tractors," written by William Hazlett Upson for The Saturday Evening Post.

Now Alexander Botts has been brought to life on the screen in the First National comedy, "Earthworm Tractors," which is scheduled as the feature attraction at the Dominion Theatre tomorrow.

Joe is supported by a notable cast. He has two leading ladies, June Travis and Carol Hughes, and such talented players as Guy Kibbee, Dick Foran, Gene Lockhart, Olin Howland, Joseph Crehan, Sara Edwards, Charles Wilson, William Davidson, Irving Bacon and Stuart Holmes.

WARNER OLAND AT THE PLAZA

After an all too long separation, Charlie Chan and his son Lee are once again united in the new Warner Oland film, "Charlie Chan in Shanghai," now at the Plaza Theatre.

Keye Luke, the young American-born Chinese actor, portrayed Oland's son in "Charlie Chan in Paris," and returns to the screen to aid his father solve the most baffling crime in his long career.

Luke's success in "Charlie Chan in Paris" met with the theatre-going public's approval. From the number of fan letters that have been arriving at the studio, it is evident that the public likes the idea of the great Chan having a son to help him in his fascinating task of tracking down criminals.

Also being shown in the second feature are Maureen O'Sullivan and Joel McCrea in "Woman Wanted."

VIGGO KIHL TO GIVE RECITAL

Viggo Kihl has just completed a summer course in music and piano technique in Edmonton, and is now conducting a similar course at Banff for the University of Alberta.

These courses are sponsored and financed by the trustees of the Carnegie Foundation, through the university.

Without doubt, Viggo Kihl is the most versatile pianist in Canada. His vast knowledge of music in all its branches, coupled with a broad cultural background and his conscientious daily work, combine with his prodigous memory to keep him always ready to play at a moment's notive well over a hundred of the most exacting and outstanding works of the best of the classical and modern composers. Viggo Kihl will appear in recital at the Empress Hotel on Thursday evening, August 20.

Final Hour Profit-Taking Dips Prices On Wall St. Market

Associated Press

New York, Aug. 13. — After striding forward under the leadership of steel most of the day, the stock market teetered and fell back in the final hour as profit-taking orders came in its path.

Selling speeded up as trading drew to a close. The final tone was irregular. Transactions totaled about 1,450,000 shares.

Buying on resumption of dividends hoisted Sloss-Sheffield Steel Preferred around fourteen points in the last hour, while the common came to the fore in late trading for a rise of about six points.

Other steels which were in brisk demand, but met late selling, included American Steel Foundries, Byers, Youngstown Sheet and Tube and Crucible.

Aircrafts put in a quiet day, but turned more active near the end under increased offerings.

Buyers had the advantage in Western Union, Consolidated Edison, North American and International Telephone.

Carriers turned irregular as the afternoon wore on.

Corn finished buoyant at gains of 1¾ to 2¾c a bushel. Wheat was up 1 to 1⅝c. Cotton moved forward. Foreign exchanges were mixed.

Winnipeg, Aug. 13.—Responsive to strength in outside markets, wheat prices advanced 2⅛ to 1½ cents a bushel on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today. October closed at 1.03, December 1.01½ and May 1.03¼.

Trading was fairly active throughout the session. Good support, furnished by moderate export sales of wheat and brisk local buying, offset liberal selling.

Increased hedging pressure of new wheat was in evidence, the result of yesterday's country deliveries which totaled 1,431,000 bushels. On the same day last year, marketings were 193,000 bushels.

Spreads improved substantially in the cash-grains section, with keen demand evidenced for most grades of wheat. Coarse grains prices moved higher with wheat.

Chicago, Aug. 13.—Corn developed greater strength than wheat late today, and climbed to the highest prices since March, 1929.

No. 2 white corn for immediate use scored nearly 3 cents a bushel overnight rise. Predictions by crop experts were current that if extra heavy rains were not received between now and spring another crop disaster in 1937 would be an absolute certainty.

Corn closed buoyant, at almost the day's top level, 1¾ to 2¾ cents above yesterday's finish, September 108⅜ to 108¾, December 96¼ to 96⅜; wheat 1 cent to 1⅝ up, September 111⅞ to 112, December 111¾ to 111⅞; oats ½ to ⅞ advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 22 cents.

The party returned to the city about 7.30 o'clock.

Members of the committee which organized the picnic were Frank Shandley (chairman), A. H. Lindner, Alfred Dowell, John V. Johnson, Jack Mackay, Tom Bradbury and Mason Sands.

SAILOR HELD AFTER KILLING

San Francisco, Aug. 13.—Police arrested William P. Shea, a sailor, for questioning today in the killing of Raoul Louis Cherbourgh, whose chain-wrapped body was found on the eastern shore of San Francisco Bay.

Police said Shea denied knowing Cherbourgh, although he admitted living at the same hotel. Sullivan, he told the officers, is a sailor aboard the Ruth Alexander, en route to Seattle.

Foul Play Not Cause of Death

Coroner's Jury Decides J. J. Beckett Died From Blood Clot on Brain

Vancouver, Aug. 13 (Canadian Press).—Vancouver police continued today to investigate puzzling circumstances surrounding the death of J. J. Beckett whose lacerated body was found floating in the waters of President Channel, between Orcas and Waldron islands, last Tuesday.

While it was established by Friday Harbor, Wash., authorities that Beckett died from thrombosis, it was still unexplained how the former Anyox man happened to be carrying rifle ammunition in his pockets.

Captain A. Sinclair said he was certain he saw Beckett aboard the Ss. Princess Joan shortly before midnight Friday, but police said they had ascertained the middle-aged electrician did not have enough money to buy a boat fare when he left his Vancouver boarding house.

Police renewed a request for information from any person who saw Beckett between Friday evening and the time of his death.

Suspicions of foul play connected with the death of John James Beckett, Vancouver man, whose body was found on Tuesday in the waters off Orcas Island, were allayed by complete medical examination at Friday Harbor yesterday.

A coroner's inquest determined the cause of death was a blood clot on the brain, the verdict being death was the result "of coronary thrombosis."

Facial injuries at first thought to be severe were discovered to be superficial. It was thought they resulted from Mr. Beckett striking the side of the Ss. Princess Joan, from which he is believed to have fallen overboard.

Captain Andrew Sinclair, British Columbia pilot, told authorities he saw Mr. Beckett aboard the boat on Friday night before the ship pulled out for Victoria.

The theory is that he was the victim of a stroke while standing at the ship's rail and fell overboard.

Identification of the dead man was made yesterday by A. H. Stewart of Deep Cove, who was taken to Friday Harbor by provincial police. Mr. Stewart was a close friend of Mr. Beckett's and had known him for several years.

The remains will be sent to Victoria for burial.

Bridge to Tap New Subdivision

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Aug. 13.—Assurance

Vancouver, Aug. 13. — Assurance that the third highest suspension bridge in the world would span the First Narrows of Burrard Inlet within two years has been given citizens of West Vancouver by A. J. T. Taylor, British Pacific Properties. At a meeting last night, 300 citizens were told that work already had been started on the great span that will connect Vancouver with the north shore municipality and the British Pacific Properties subdivision to be known as Capilano Estates. Mr. Taylor said a maximum of 350 homes—costing between $10,000 and $15,000—would be built on the subdivision. It would not be a millionaire colony, he said.

Tarzan And the Fire Gods

Garetto's vast army had closed a circle around Tarzan's valiant warriors when the mounted baboons charged into the breach. The bewildered rush of the horses hurled back the black tide, and the screaming baboons leaped furiously down upon Tarzan's foes.

The proud baboon king jumped to the back of the Jungle Lord's horse and said: "Fear not, Tarzan; Hobash is here!" At that moment, a black warrior drew back his spear to thrust at the ape-man. Hobash sprang full upon him and killed him, then turned to another victim.

The baboons fought with beastly fury, with the weapons Nature gave them—great strength, sharp fangs, and inborn ferocity. Their ghastly attack spread terror among the blacks, who turned now and fled in wild disorder. Hobash and his baboon battalion had saved the day!

Many of the fear-inspired fugitives fell victims to the fierce baboons, but most of them gained the safety of the fort. "Assail the ramparts!" Tarzan shouted. But now machine gun and musket fire burst from the fort, and the attackers were swept by a deadly hail of bullets!

The Gumps

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—I have a daughter of twenty who is a great disappointment to me. She is a brilliant girl, graduated from high school at the age of sixteen and she now holds a responsible position with an important business man. She wants to leave home and have an apartment of her own. These are the reasons she gives:

First. Each week out of her salary I allow her to keep $5. This is ample for her carfare and lunch money and should, if she is careful in selecting her entertainments, provide her with a good many amusements. She has five good dresses. Some of these are old, but she is very neat and they are good enough for the office. Second. She says that the other girls who work hard from 9 to 5 o'clock every day don't have to come home and get dinner and do the dishes and clean the house on Saturdays. I feel that since I am approaching fifty my days of strenuous work are over, and that as she is young and healthy these tasks are not too much for her. Third. She sometimes uses up all her money before the week is out and thinks that I am unjust when I refuse to lend her enough to tide her over. Fourth. She complains that I monopolize her friends when they come to call. I feel that it is a mother's duty to help entertain the young people. Out of all these things I can see no good reason why she should want to leave home. What is your opinion?

MISUNDERSTOOD MOTHER.

Answer—The only thing that I can't understand about the situation is why your daughter hasn't left home long ago, for you are making nothing of her but a slave. You take away from her the money she earns. You dump the housework on her in addition to her hard day's work in the office. You don't even give her the liberty of seeing her friends alone. Why she has submitted to such tyranny I can't imagine.

I suppose your excuse will be that she "owes" all of this to you because you brought her into the world and fed and clothed her up to the time she was able to go to work. Hence you feel that you have a lien on her services the remainder of her life. But before you try to cash in too heavily on the debt you consider your children owe you just reflect that they didn't ask to be born and, having thrust life on them, it is your obligation to take care of them and provide for them the best you can.

I believe that children have a very definite duty to provide for their fathers and mothers if they are old, or sick, or in need and unable to support themselves. But it is monstrous that parents should enslave their children; that they should lay their burdens on young backs and make little hands toil for them. Yet this often happens. I have known many families in which an able-bodied father, still in the prime of life, knocked off work as soon as the girls got through high school and got positions, and thereafter he never did a lick of labor.

You are most unfair in demanding that your daughter shall turn over her salary to you. The laborer is worthy of her hire, and every girl who earns a pay envelope has a right to it. If her mother expects to share in it, let the two of them decide on a proper board and the girl can pay it, but the remainder of the money is hers to do with as she sees fit.

It takes the heart out of a girl to feel that she is working for nothing and that Mother gets it all. It kills her self-respect as an independent, self-supporting individual to have to go to Mother for every penny and have her dole out a few nickels. And it keeps her from ever learning how to handle money by having Mother buy her just what Mother thinks she should have. No woman would dream of taking her son's pay envelope from him as she does her daughter's. Why this injustice should be practiced on girls can only be explained by the fact that girls stand for it and boys don't.

No girl should be expected to help with the housework when she has labored in an office from 9 to 5 o'clock every day. She is worn out, exhausted, and she should have rest and recreation. The idea of a woman who is not fifty and who is in good health wishing off the housework on her working daughter is an outrage. A woman at that age is generally healthier and stronger than she has ever been in her life and perfectly able to do her housework. You are certainly giving your daughter a raw deal and unless you change your methods you can be very sure of one thing, and that is that you will lose her.

DEAR MISS DIX—My husband and I have been married for ten years, have three children, and up to now we have always been very happy. Recently, my husband's widowed mother and his brother had to break up housekeeping and my husband suggested that they come and live with us. I refused, but he got very mad with me so I gave in and they are with us. But I am not content. I want to be alone with my family. There are other children they could live with. Don't you think it would be wise for them to get a little place of their own? Shall I tell them how I feel?

DAUGHTER-IN-LAW.

Answer—Whenever it is possible it is much better for the children to club together and establish a widowed mother in a home of her own, or a good boarding house than it is to take her into their families. It makes for the happiness of all concerned.

Old people cannot slip into their children's home without making friction. They are always discontented and critical of new ways to which they cannot adjust themselves. No man has a right to bring his family into his home when his wife is opposed to it and it makes her unhappy; nor has any wife the right to inflict her family on her husband.

When, however, it is a financial necessity for an old man or woman to live with his or her children, the burden should not be dumped, as it so often is, on one. The children should share it. But the in-laws, no matter how much the advent of mother or father-in-law disrupts their households, should treat the old people with consideration and kindness, remembering what a pitiful thing it is to be an enforced guest and know that one is unwelcome.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am a girl of sixteen, rather pretty, but I wear glasses. I have noticed that girls not so attractive as I am, but who do not wear glasses are much more popular both with boys and girls. Should I discard them during school hours and not see very well?

C. R.

Answer — Wear your glasses. They have nothing to do with your popularity or lack of it. Modern glasses are not disfiguring. Often they give a piquant expression and light up an otherwise dull face.

Uncle Wiggily And Nancy's Mistake

By HOWARD R. GARIS

After the new cook had put shaving cream on the cake instead of icing, Uncle Wiggily decided that she had better taste everything before using it. You remember that Nancy, the tabby cat, was cooking in the hollow stump bungalow while Nurse Jane was on her vacation, don't you?

"If you taste things you'll know what not to use," Mr. Longears told Nancy. "My, oh my—I'll never forget that cake with the shaving cream on top! What a taste!"

"And we'll never forget the face you made," Mrs. Longears laughed. "You certainly were comical."

"I'm really awfully sorry," Nancy, the tabby cat, said for about the tenth time. "It will never happen again."

"Don't let it worry you," Uncle Wiggily said kindly. "We all make mistakes. Now I'm going for a walk, and you, Nancy, will be in charge of the house, for Mrs. Longears takes a nap in the afternoons. If any hungry animals come to the door give them something to eat—but not shaving cream!" And Uncle Wiggily chuckled. "Good-bye now, and good luck!"

IN THE MEANTIME

And off he went. But let me tell you what was happening not half a mile away, in the den of the bad old fox. He and the wolf were talking. Said Mr. Wolf:

"Have you heard about the new servant girl up at Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow? She's cooking while Nurse Jane is on vacation."

"What difference does that make to us?" the Fox growled, for he was mean even when talking to a friend.

"I'll tell you what difference it makes!" the Wolf answered. "You can disguise yourself and she'll let you in, and you can hide and get Uncle Wiggily!"

"I never thought of that," the Fox admitted. "You mean the new cook won't know who I am, and I can get in that way? Fine! I know what I'll do. I'll put on some old clothes, and a hat pulled down over my eyes, and I'll pretend I'm out of work and ask her to let me in and give me some food. But not the food I want—Uncle Wiggily's ears will supply that!" And he laughed, very disagreeably.

KNOCK ON THE DOOR

In a short time there came a knock on the door of the bungalow. When Nancy answered it there was the Fox, but of course Nancy did not know this.

"I'm a poor old tramp chap and I haven't any work, and I'm hungry!" whined the Fox. "Will you give me something to eat?"

"Of course!" Nancy replied, remembering what Uncle Wiggily had told her. "Come right in!"

Wasn't that a fine kettle of fish—or a kettle of Fox, if you wish! The Fox walked in the parlor and sat down in the best chair, while Nancy went to the kitchen. The Fox stretched out and licked his lips, thinking of what would happen when Uncle Wiggily came home. But—and now listen carefully! Uncle Wiggily did come home, but luckily he first looked in the window and saw the bad old Fox, in his best chair!

"My goodness!" he gasped. "This is terrible!" And he ran around to the back door and whispered: "Psst! Nancy! Come here, quick!"

"It's the Fox—the bad chap! You let him in! He wants to nibble my ears!"

FIXES FOX

"Oh, he does, eh?" cried Nancy, and her tail got big and her fur stood up straight. "Fooling me like that! I'll fix him!"

So she grabbed a dishpan and ran in the parlor. "You bad Fox, you!" she yelled, and banged him over the head with the dishpan. "Get out, and never come here any more! The idea! You get out!" And she banged him again.

"Wowie!" the Fox shouted. "Don't hit me any more! I'll go! That Wolf didn't tell me you were strong!"

You should have seen him run! Uncle Wiggily and Nancy laughed until they could hardly stand up. She was quite a cook, that tabby cat!

And tomorrow night, if the bottle opener will say "Excuse me" when it opens a bottle of ginger ale, instead of sarsaparilla, I'll tell you about Uncle Wiggily and the ink berries.

LAST TRIBUTE TO SEAFARER

Many Seafaring Men in Attendance at Funeral Today of Capt. John Irving

Shipping men of Victoria and many old-timers, who remembered him when he was a power in marine affairs in the Pacific Northwest, this afternoon attended the last rites for Capt. John Irving who died in Vancouver Monday evening in his eighty-fourth year.

The funeral service, conducted under the auspices of the Canadian Merchant Service Guild, was read by Rev. P. C. Hayman. In Vancouver yesterday the Guild also held a service for Capt. Irving, more than 300 marine men being in attendance.

In keeping with the life of a seafarer the funeral service was extremely simple.

Among the wealth of floral tributes was an anchor wreath, twenty-four inches high, standing on an easel, with a marine blue ribbon band two inches wide, from stock to fluke, with the letters "C.M.S.G." in gold.

Pallbearers, all members of the Canadian Merchant Service Guild were Capt. A. Slater, master of the Ss. Princess Elizabeth and president of the Guild; Capt. T. H. Brown, acting Victoria vice-president, taking the place of Capt. A. M. Davies who is sick; Capt. R. A. Hunter, Capt. J. C. Foote and Capt. C. P. Kenny, retired ship masters and Capt. Melville Jack, second officer of the Ss. Princess Elizabeth.

Following the service at the Hayward Chapel old shipmates followed Capt. Irving to his last earthly resting place in Ross Bay Cemetery, beside the waters he so often sailed during three-quarters of a century.

HUGE TUNA ARE CAUGHT

Liverpool, N.S., Aug. 13.—An amateur fisherman who had never seen a tuna in his life yesterday caught the second largest fish taken off Nova Scotia this year.

R. R. Collard of Winnipeg, taking a day off from a business trip down here, fought three hours and ten minutes to land his 717-pound tuna with rod and line. He hooked the fish five minutes after it was first sighted.

But just after Collard's fish had been weighed, Dr. J. R. Brinkley of Del Rio, Texas, came in with a 757-

Vancouver Shipping

Vancouver, Aug. 13.—Ss. Telespore de Larrinaga, British freighter, under charter to Canadian Transport to load for London and Southampton, is berthed at the Fraser River elevator.

Ship's officers said during their berthing in various ports on the east coast of South America it was almost necessary to rig up old-style boarding nettings and man them to keep the vessel free of stowaways, so crowded are the ports with unemployed men desirous of transportation to other parts of the world.

Tenders for construction of a new operating house at Point Grey radio station have been called by the Federal Department of Marine at Ottawa and will close at noon, Friday. The present operating house will be demolished.

R.M.S. Niagara of the Canadian-Australasian Line left yesterday for the Antipodes via Hawaiian and Fiji ports with 250 passengers and mail.

Before departure the Seaforth Highlanders pipe band gave a concert to the ship's crew in appreciation for the presentation of an Australian wreath to the memory of Canadian soldiers who lost their lives in the Great War.

LUMBER RATES ARE INCREASED

Lumbermen Declare Such Rates Will Place Their Lumber at Disadvantage

Seattle, Aug. 13.—Increased rates on lumber by intercoastal steamship lines would place west coast lumber at a disadvantage with British Columbia lumber, Pacific Northwest lumbermen declared yesterday in a hearing before G. O. Basham, examiner for the U.S. Shipping Board bureau.

The proposed rate, raising the charge per 1,000 board feet from $12 to $13 was to have become effective July 1, but the Shipping Board bureau suspended it until November 1 or until the bureau completes its report.

Protests against the increase came from the West Coast Lumbermen's Association and the Intercoastal Lumber Distributors' Association of New York, who said west coast lumber must be shipped in vessel of American registry at published rates, while British Columbia lumber could ship in vessels of any registry and at any rate.

The first day of the hearing was devoted largely to preliminary statements about competition between United States and Canadian firms.

SIGNAL HONOR FOR CANADIAN

Lieut. H. F. Pullen, Formerly of Esquimalt, Commander King's Bodyguard

Of interest to his many friends in Victoria is the information that Lieut. H. F. Pullen, R.C.N., was in charge of the guard of honor that attended King Edward at the recent unveiling of the Canadian Memorial at Vimy Ridge.

Lieut. Pullen has served at Esquimalt and is the grandson of Mrs. Colin Cummins of Victoria. At the unveiling he was in charge of sixty picked men from H.M.C.S. Saguenay, which convoyed the four passenger liners that took the Vimy pilgrims across the Atlantic.

Lieut. Pullen was born in Oakville, Ont., thirty-one years ago, and comes of a family in which service in the Royal Navy is traditional.

He first enrolled with the Canadian Navy at Esquimalt in 1920, and since then has been continuously with the navy except for two years, when he served with the Canadian Pacific Steamships. He carries the distinction of being the first Canadian ever to win the King's Dirk, gaining the coveted honor for general proficiency and good character on graduation from the British training ship Thunderer in 1925, following he saw service in H.M.S. Hood and other fighting ships before being transferred to the Canadian Navy. He was stationed in the barracks at Esquimalt a few years ago and also aboard the Skeena and Vancouver.
